Princess Margaret's Aching Feet Keep Her Off Dance Floor

BAD EISEN, Germany (P)—Princess Margaret kept until after 3 a.m. today at the lavish British officers' dance in her honor, but fatigue and aching feet kept her off the floor most of the night. The usually vivacious 25-year-old told her line of young and handsome partners she was tired and somewhat footsore after the strenuous round of official appearances and parties since she arrived Monday for an official visit to the West German government and a tour of British units.

Heat Not for Birds, One Crashes at Home

ST. LOUIS (P)—It might be said that yesterday's 112-degree weather here was strictly for the birds. But that isn't true.

A dazed chicken hawk crashed against the home of Mrs. Robert N. Kirby.

A humane society officer diagnosed it as another case of heat exhaustion. The bird, with a 40-inch wingspread, was taken to the society shelter and given water and rest.

Better Behave

Several persons have been declaring that it is hotter than you know where. If that is true, let's change our way of living. We couldn't put up with this forever.

Fair tonight and Friday. Cool tonight, high Friday near 90. Low tonight in the upper 60s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 75, 92 at 1 p. m., and 93 at 2 p. m. The high Wednesday was 115.

One year ago today here high 86, low 65; two years ago 84, 63; three years ago 89, 64. Eighteen years ago high 114.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 55.4, fall 1.

Uganda Will Cut Out Weather Predictions

KAMPALA, Uganda (P)—Uganda government radio station is dropping its broadcasts of weather forecasts. Native African listeners, officials found, considered the prediction a definite government promise.

If the weather didn't match the forecast, the officials said, the natives held it proved that all the government announcements made that day are "a pack of lies."

Levitt Tells Of $5 Million Homes Profit

Informers Senators Levittown Project Netted Big Sum

WASHINGTON (P)—William J. Levitt, one of the builders of Levittown, N.Y., and Levittown, Pa., told investigating senators today the New York Levittown, built with government-insured loans, cleared over five million dollars in profits.

Levitt told the Senate Banking Committee, probing housing scandals, that the Beth-Page Realty Co. was set up to build 4,028 of Levittown's 18,000 individual homes.

Government-insured mortgages totaled nearly 30 million dollars and actual costs of construction were $24,160,000, he told the committee, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.).

The difference was treated as a capital gain after the stock in Beth-Page was sold to the Juntio, Inc., of Philadelphia in December of 1949. Juntio was described as a charitable organization.

Levitt said each of the Beth-Page homes got FHA-insured mortgages of $7,500 or thereabouts. They were built only for rental, under an expired postwar program.

The homes now are valued by the FHA, Levitt said, at $7,700 and actually are worth a good deal more. He said a third owner, unidentified, bought the stock in the project from Juntio and is now selling the homes, with purchasers eligible for FHA mortgage insurance.

When he heard this, Capehart said: "This business of the FHA insuring mortgages is sort of like a dog chasing its tail, isn't it?"

"Definitely," said Levitt, one of two Levitt brothers who, with their father, owned all the original stock in Beth-Page Realty.

While Levitt was on the stand in the Senate inquiry, acting FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason announced that he is removing Burton C. Bovard, general counsel of the agency since 1940, from federal service effective today.

Bovard has been on leave since May 7 when Mason accused him of "failure to satisfactorily carry out the duties" of his job. Mason said then that he had no evidence of illegal activity on Bovard's part.

One of the principal targets of inquiry to date has been alleged windfall profits reaped by apartment builders who got government-insured mortgages larger than construction costs, then pocketed the difference.

Levitt is a member of the firm of Levitt and Sons, builder of Levittown. The community is considered by some a model operation for new building techniques.

Some 6,000 homes in the planned community, it was reported, were built for rental and the balance for outright sale under sections of the National Housing Act.

The Senate probe, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), yesterday heard a tale of home repair salesmen being "trained and schooled" in ways to defraud small home owners under another section of the housing program.

Andrew Nicol, an investigator for the Bergen County, N.J., prosecutor's office, said such schools were set up all over the country to teach salesmen how to take advantage of Federal Housing Administration loan insurance offered for repair and modernization of homes. The program allows full FHA insurance on loans up to $2,500.

Nicol said the schools train salesmen how to pretend to be mathematicians and to act like "factory executives, not salesmen." Under one method, he said, the salesmen are sent out to home owners who are told they have been selected "for advertising purposes."

Nicol said the owner is told that after his home is fixed up as a demonstration he will be paid a fee for every similar job done in his neighborhood. But actually, he said, the repair firm does shoddy work on the "sample" homes, collects its money and then moves on to another locality for a repeat performance.

Rules No State Laws Prevent Fluoridation Of City Water Supply

Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton advised Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick Thursday that there is no state law preventing a city from adding one part fluoride to one million parts of water.

Barrick submitted the request for an opinion on May 24 at the request of the Pettis County Dental Association. He said that the amount of fluoride mentioned in his request was described by the dental association as the standard prescribed by the Missouri State Board of Health and the U. S. Public Health Service for preventing tooth decay.

The dental association and the Pettis County Health Council have been conducting an extensive campaign for fluoridation of Sedalia's water supply.

Indochina Decision Nearer

Britain and France, Bolstered by U.S., Open New Phases To End Asia War

GENEVA (P)—France and Britain, elated by new support from the United States, today opened the showdown phase of negotiations with the Communists aimed at ending the Indochina war.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden reportedly feel the Eisenhower administration's decision to resume a major role in the Geneva talks has boosted chances of getting an Indochina cease-fire before July 20. Mendes-France has promised to resign if he fails to get a peace agreement by that date.

The French and British leaders flew back here yesterday after a quick meeting in Paris with Secretary of State Dulles which produced the U.S. decision to send Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith back to Geneva Friday.

Eden conferred with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov last night and got him to agree to continue private huddles between delegation heads until Smith gets here.

France and Britain appeared agreed on trying to negotiate a truce by dividing Viet Nam, largest of the three Indochina states, and main war arena between the Communist-led Vietnam and French Union forces.

Dulles has frowned on such a partition plan. He and Smith had stayed away from Geneva to avoid associating the United States with a settlement giving the Communists domination of important northern Indochina areas, possibly including the city of Hanoi.

There was no confirmation that Dulles, as a result of his Paris talks with Mendes-France and Eden, liked the idea of an Indochina partition any better.

But it was believed the three Western Allies now are much nearer some kind of understanding which will allow them to display a more united front when full negotiations resume with Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai.

Informants said under one formula being studied by the Western Allies, the United States would stand aside without giving moral approval to the partition scheme.

But it would join Britain and France in providing some kind of guarantees to support and protect the southern part of Viet Nam, which would remain under French-sponsored chief of state Bao Dai.

They would provide similar guarantees for the other two Pro-French Indochinese states, Cambodia and Laos.

Smith is expected to arrive here from Washington Saturday and a formal session of the nine-party conference presumably will be held soon after. Dulles refused to return here himself, flying back to Washington.

Eden reportedly told Molotov last night that the peace talks could be picked up exactly where they stood when the two Western statesmen flew off Tuesday to meet Dulles.

Molotov took a dark view of the Paris parley and Moscow radio said that Dulles staged it with the aim of blocking any Indochina settlement.

Chou was openly resentful about the Paris talk too but went out of his way last night to generate a feeling of optimism that an Indochina cease-fire is in the cards.

Two Bills Before Congress Include $9 Million for SAFB

Two bills now being considered by Congress would provide almost $9 million for construction at the Sedalia Air Force Base.

A House armed services subcommittee Wednesday approved a bill authorizing $9,042,000 in housing at the base as a part of the new work under the program to change the base to permanent type construction.

The bill would provide 418 housing units, 214 for airmen, 125 for junior officers and 51 for field grade officers.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed and sent to the House a compromise bill to authorize $837,369.

Held as Captives Since July 4—

Czechs Free 7 American GIs Today; All Are in Good Health

WIDHAUS, Germany (P)—Seven American soldiers, held in Communist Czechoslovakia since American Independence Day, crossed the border to freedom today at noon after 12 days in captivity.

The six enlisted men and a captain were turned over at this West German-Czech border point where Associated Press correspondent William Outis was freed more than a year ago.

They were met by a detachment from the U. S. 2nd Armored Cavalry, which is stationed along the East-West frontier.

An Army spokesman said earlier that "after a routine interrogation, a news conference will be held," probably Saturday.

U. S. Army authorities said the men appeared to be in "good condition" and that they reported "the food was good."

They were brought to the border in a dusty Czech bus, and as they climbed out some of them appeared red-eyed and nervous, but in good health.

Capt. Davis, clutching a road map in his hands, spoke briefly for the group after they stopped momentarily on the German side of the border.

"My men are very tired and very nervous," he said. "The treatment was satisfactory. The food was sufficient and the billets were adequate."

Davis himself appeared nervous. His hands trembled as he spoke. Two of the men were carrying cameras they apparently had taken with them on their July 4 sight-seeing trip to the border.

The men were put into cars and conveyed toward Nuenberg. No other statement was immediately available.

The seven members of the 816th Field Artillery Battalion, are: Capt. Jack M. Davis, the battalion surgeon, Raytown, Mo.; Cpl. John F. Glasson, Oakdale, Calif.; Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, Springfield, Ohio; Pfc. George Switzer, Milburn, Neb.; Pfc. Leonard D. Tannis, Alliance, Ohio; Pvt. Richard J. Jumper, Booneville, Miss.; and Pvt. Ross F. McGinnis, Greensburg, Pa.

Quick action by residents of the area prevented serious damage to the steel span over a diversion channel leading to the Mississippi River between Delta and Allenville in Southeast Missouri. They obtained a portable pump and played a stream of water on the steel bridge.

An investigation is under way to determine the cause of the fire, which was first noticed by a party of swimmers.

Jefferson City (P)—Missouri reported 14 new cases of polio last week to make the total for the year so far 68. The Division of Health said today.

In the same week a year ago, there were 24 cases of the disease reported in Missouri. The total for 1953 at that time was 133.

Thirty-five degrees, when they start at 115 and go downward, make a heap of difference.

This morning, after yesterday's record 115 degrees in Sedalia, the thermometer registered 75 and it seemed quite cool.

The heat wave was broken Wednesday evening a few hours after the mercury climbed to that all time high and remained at that 115 mark for more than an hour. A cool wind blew in the lower temperatures that are destined to remain for another day before Saturday is scheduled to go on another of the dizzy heat climbs.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon it was only 92 degrees in Sedalia, a full 20 degrees cooler than the 112 registered at the same hour yesterday. It appeared today would be the first time since Saturday that the 100-degree mark has not been reached.

KANSAS CITY (P)—A cool front moved across Missouri today giving the state relief from a record-breaking heat wave which has caused nearly two score of deaths.

For more data on weather around the state see page 12.

Temperatures dropped into the comfortable 70s in the northern half of the state during the night as the cool air mass moved in to end a four-day sizzle.

But there was no relief from the drought, which has begun to crack down on the state's crops and pastures.

The forecast calls for generally fair north and partly cloudy south with scattered brief showers in the extreme south this afternoon. It will be cooler tonight in the extreme south.

As for the high temperatures they'll range from 85 to 90 in the northeast to the 90s elsewhere.

Heat deaths in the state reached 37 this morning, with 24 fatalities at St. Louis which had a record-breaking 112.3 reading in the downtown section yesterday.

Greater Kansas City had 9 deaths, Nevada and Carverville had two each, and Jamestown and Leeton one each.

NEVADA (P)—W. L. Earp, 91, widely known Nevada publisher, died last night in his sleep.

Earp, a first cousin of Wyatt Earp, famed frontier marshal, is a former president of the Daily Mail Printing Co., and until his death had been active in interests outside the publishing field.

He was widely known throughout the state as a Democratic party worker, having attended every national convention for 40 years prior to 1940. He served two terms as Vernon County treasurer early in the century.

Earp, a member of the Methodist Church, had attended five general conferences of the church as a delegate. He was a charter member of the Nevada Rotary Club, and recently was made an honorary member of the club.

Survivors include two sons, Col. Claude C. Earp, Nevada, former adjutant general of Missouri and director of selective service, and Dr. Haert H. E. arp, Washington, D. C., who is in charge of the Veterans administration in charge of clinics; a daughter, Mrs. Eugene McGrath, Kansas City and a brother, George W. Earp, Joplin.

Funeral services will be held here at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Five Drifting Sailors Saved From Pacific

Freighter Sights Powerless Raft And Rescues Men

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Five wet and weary amateur sailors who had hoped to drift to Hawaii were plucked from their foundering, powerless raft 60 miles off central California early today.

The freighter Metapan radioed at 4:25 a.m. that all of the men had been rescued despite high seas and strong winds.

Presumably all were in good condition. Details of the rescue were not available.

The Metapan, which located the tiny yellow raft Lehi, 62 miles due west of Point Sal, said it was heading for San Francisco, about 175 miles away. It was expected to dock late today.

The 32-foot six-sided raft was cast adrift by the Metapan, but the coast guard said the cutter Alert would find it and destroy it as a menace to navigation.

The Lehi's SOS, first sent about 8 p.m. and repeated at 8:15 p.m., said:

"Taking water. Bow opened during heavy sea. Need tow. Sinkable condition. Raft Lehi."

The call followed four days of private searching and two days of radio appeal by the raft's sailing radio operator, Don Smith of Santa Rosa, to be taken from the Lehi.

The Lehi is manned by five amateurs who set out from San Francisco Friday hoping to drift 2,200 miles southwest to Hawaii. Skipper, Devere Baker, a Mormon preacher, they took no food or water. They hoped to catch fish and are using a solar still to make sea water drinkable. They've reported snaring one salmon and one shark for food.

The raft drifted south instead of southwest.

After receiving the SOS the Coast Guard ordered into action the 125-foot cutter Alert from Morro Bay, diverted the cutter Active from San Francisco and dispatched two rescue planes.

The Active started searching an area 17 miles southwest of Point Sur, the last reported position of the Lehi at 6 p.m. Monday.

The Alert searched 20 to 35 miles due west of Point Sal, which is 15 miles south of San Luis Obispo. This is the estimated position of the Lehi, the Coast Guard said.

Diligenti Quints, 11, Together for Birthday

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (P)—The Diligenti quintuplets celebrated their 11th birthday today. The boys and three girls are boarding school in five different English schools here and the birthday observance marked the first time they had all been at home together for months.

The wealthy father, Franco Diligenti, said the children are "healthy and are doing well at school." He said his policy of keeping them in separate schools has been a success.

Course Is Opened In Water Rescues

LAKE OZARK (P)—A special course in water rescue squad training opened here last night in a drive to cut down drownings on the Lake of the Ozarks.

Twelve students in five different first session of the series to train rescue squad leaders. The school is being sponsored by the Missouri Highway Patrol, the Coast Guard and resort operators in this area.

Unity Formula Found

Dulles Declares Big Three Are United In Anti-Communist Fight on Indochina

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of State Dulles returned from three power talks at Paris today saying "We have found a formula for constructive allied unity" which will strengthen the anti-Communist position at negotiations on Indochina peace.

Dulles flew to Paris Monday night and held emergency consultations with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France. One of his decisions was that Undersecretary of State W. B. Smith should go to the Geneva conference to participate in the final round of talks with the Reds on Indochina.

Diplomats here believe that Dulles would not have agreed to send Smith to Geneva to provide high level U. S. participation in the conference unless he had assurance from Mendes-France ruling out a peacetime at any price settlement.

In a statement upon his arrival here, Dulles said the Paris talks "have brought about an understanding concerning Indochina much more complete than has heretofore existed."

This, he added, enabled the Western ministers "to demonstrate anew the solidarity of the Western powers in the face of Communist hostility and intrigue."

Dulles went immediately from the airport to the White House to report to President Eisenhower.

At the White House Dulles conferred with the President privately for 20 minutes. Then both went into the meeting of the National Security Council, which was holding its regular weekly session.

Undersecretary Smith will take off for Geneva late tomorrow for the talks.

Dulles said the formula for Allied unity was achieved without any abandonment by the United States of its principles. Eisenhower and Dulles have repeatedly stated that the United States would not sanction Red conquest of any area.

"The United States has been concerned," Dulles said, "to find a way whereby it could help France, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia find acceptable settlements without in any way prejudicing basic principles to which the United States must adhere if it is to be true to itself and if the captive and endangered peoples of the world are to feel that the United States really believes in liberty."

"I had the opportunity in Paris fully to explain the United States position in this respect to M. Mendes-France, whom I had known before but whom I had not met since he assumed his new offices."

"The conclusion was that we would ask the undersecretary of State, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, to return to Geneva at an early date to renew his participation in the Indochina phase of the Geneva conference. This is on the understanding, to which both the French and British ministers expressly agreed, that renewed participation by the United States at the ministerial level will be without departing from the United States principles which I described."

OSAGE BEACH (P)—A Coast Guard boat and part-time crew has been assigned to the Lake of the Ozarks.

Plans are also underway here for the establishment of a Coast Guard auxiliary on the lake.

Anthony J. Calinedo, assistant chief director of the Coast Guard auxiliary in Washington, addressed a meeting of resort and boat owners last night. He said a Coast Guard auxiliary on the lake would help establish local safety procedures.

Are Ready To Examine Profit Report

WASHINGTON (P) — Senators were ready today to check on reports that a former head of a federal lending agency made a windfall profit on a government-insured apartment construction loan after he left his government job.

A person close to the Senate Banking Committee, asking not to be quoted by name, said that Don A. Loftus of Wilmington, Del., would be asked about an Ohio apartment project from which a former government official allegedly profited. The onetime official was not identified.

Loftus formerly was connected with Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis concern which made apartment loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Loftus was one of several witnesses summoned by the committee in its investigation of alleged irregularities in housing loan insurance operations.

Others included Ralph J. Solow, who has been before the committee in secret session; Alfred Gross of New York, who shared in a reported four-million-dollar windfall profit on Glen Oaks Village, Inc., on Long Island, N.Y.; and Andrew Nichols, assistant to the county prosecutor of Bergen County, N.J.

There have been no allegations that windfall profits, as such, are illegal, but the Banking Committee has been searching for evidence of corruption or collusion between builders and FHA officials in arranging for government insurance of loans inflated well beyond actual project costs.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), Banking Committee chairman, estimates that windfall profits out of a post-war apartment building program total half a billion dollars.

Capehart, meanwhile, said he was undisturbed by a turn of events yesterday which appeared to have torpedoed any chance for possible Justice Department action in connection with conflicting testimony given the committee in secret session June 22 by Solow of Englewood, N.J., and Sidney Sarnier of Tenafly, N.J., who were partners in a building concern until four years ago.

It appeared after the committee made the secret testimony available to newsmen that neither witness had testified under oath. The transcript had been set to the Justice Department Monday for possible action.

But Committee Counsel William Simoon said if the two witnesses had not been put under oath there was no chance for perjury prosecution.

Sarnier said from home last night that he was not sworn. Solow said he did not think he had been put under oath.

Solow said, "The last time when I testified privately, I gave my full cooperation . . . and will do so tomorrow." He added: "I think I can clear myself."

Prisoner Doesn't Stay To Greet His Visitors

LINCOLN, Neb. (P)—When the mother and wife of prisoner Lloyd Leonard of Omaha arrived at the penitentiary here to visit him, Warden Herbert Hahn drove over to the prison farm to fetch Leonard.

Leonard wasn't there. He had walked away from a threshing crew and his absence had gone unnoticed until the warden arrived.

Figures Prove People Keep Saving Money

NEW YORK (P)—People are going right on saving, it says here in the statistics put out by the government, the bankers and the life insurance people.

It's hard for a lot of people to believe that anyone can save in these days of the high cost of living, of big baby crops and larger families, of high taxes, of a business slowdown and lower take-home pay for many.

But figures released this week show that by and large Americans are putting as much or more away this year than last and that total savings continue to rise. It's going into U.S. Savings Bonds, into life insurance, bank deposits. Totals for all of them are rising.

And merchants will tell you—some of them rather sadly—that many consumers are putting a reverse English on saving too.

They are paying up their installment debts faster than they are taking on new debt by buying gadgets on time. Getting out of debt is one form of saving. Merchants think this can be carried too far.

There are other forms of saving which a man may not realize he's making.

"I can't save anything," a man will tell you. "After I've made the life insurance payment, paid the monthly installment on the mortgage on my house, put money each month in that fund that the wife insists we have against the time junior goes to college, why, I have a hard time finding enough to meet the payment on the car and the freezer."

But life insurance is a form of saving. A home of your own is a form of saving.

The U.S. Treasury reports that in the first half of this year of supposed recession it sold 13 percent more in E and H Savings Bonds than in the same period of booming 1953, and, in fact, set an eight-year sales record. And sales are exceeding cash-ins.

Deposits in the savings banks of New York state alone increased 393 million dollars in the first half of this year.

Denies He Was Drunk When He Hit Nixon Car

LOS ANGELES (P)—Harold Belfrey denies he was intoxicated when the car he was driving hit one in which Vice President Nixon was riding — but he paid his fine nevertheless.

Belfrey, 35, said it was the discovery of the identity of Nixon, the Secret Service men and all the excitement that upset him so that he failed a sobriety test.

Municipal Judge Ben Joenig found him guilty of drunk driving yesterday and fined him $158.

No one was hurt in the June 13 accident which occurred shortly after the Vice President arrived in Los Angeles for a speech.

Hair stylist Victor Vito cuts this girl's naturally curly hair (upper left), which she finds hard to manage, in a style suited to curly hair. He keeps the natural direction of the curl in mind as he cuts and shapes her hair. The result is a soft, feathery hair style (upper right) which demands little upkeep. This girl (lower left) with straight hair, however, has another problem. She dislikes spending most of her spare time trying to curl her hair. So it's cut while it's wet. Afterwards, the girl (lower right) admires her new hairdo. It's shaped close to the head and proves that straight hair, when cut correctly, can be sleek, easy to care for and flattering to the face. This style will take a daily brushing, a weekly shampoo and that's all.

Predicts GOP Aid to Defeat Ike TVA Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) predicted today some Republican senators will join many Democrats in supporting a proposal to block President Eisenhower's plan to place a new private power plant in the Tennessee Valley.

The Senate approached a vote on the proposal, an amendment to a lengthy bill to revise the Atomic Energy Act in line with the President's program to exchange more nuclear information with foreign allies and to permit private industry entry into peacetime atomic activities.

The Senate was called into session two hours early to resume debate on the bill, with major skirmishing continuing on the power plant issue. Eisenhower has directed the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to conclude a 25-year contract with a private utility group for a new steam power plant to service the Memphis, Tenn., area over Tennessee Valley Authority lines. The power would replace TVA power being shifted to the AEC's plant at Paducah, Ky.

The President, who has described the order as one which will provide time for another government look at TVA operations, met at the White House yesterday with Sen. Anderson of New Mexico, senior Democratic senator on the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Anderson later introduced an amendment that would allow the AEC to contract only for power supplied directly to atomic installations. The amendment would also require proposed contracts to be submitted for 30 days to the congressional atomic committee. Anderson told the Senate the proposed contract would supply power for general consumer service. He and others dispute an administration contention the plan to build a new 107-million-dollar plant is the cheapest way of replacing the TVA electricity now supplied to the Paducah atomic plant. It would supplant any immediate new TVA facilities.

Gore said in an interview that three or four Republican senators are expected to support the amendment, but he declined to predict the outcome. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) opposed the amendment yesterday.

The amendment, if approved by both houses, would block the proposed contract with the Middle Tennessee Electric Power Corp., and the Southern Co.

House Group Approves Taking Citizenship From Conspirators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today approved and sent to the House a bill to strip citizenship rights from persons convicted of conspiring to overthrow the government by force or violence.

At the same time, it formally consigned to the wastebasket two administration bills to give the government authority to bar suspected spies and saboteurs from defense plants and dissolve Communist-led unions and organizations.

The citizenship measure was advocated by President Eisenhower and is part of the anti-subversive program sent to Capitol Hill by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

It would provide for automatic loss of citizenship to anyone convicted of violation of the Smith Act by conspiring to overthrow the government by violent means.

In junking the two Brownell security bills, the committee adopted a substitute proposal by Rep. Walter D. Dyer to create an 18-member commission to study the question before recommending new legislation.

Western Union Rates For Interstate Work Go Up 11 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Union's interstate rates went up an average 11 per cent at midnight last night, a boost the Federal Communications Commission figures will bring the telegraph company another nine million dollars a year.

FCC okayed the firm's proposed rate hike yesterday, saying it is designed to restore Western Union's earnings to the 5 per cent level recorded in the first half of 1953. It states regulatory bodies allow similar increases for business within the state, FCC said, the company would pick up another nine million annually.

The interstate increases range from 3 to 20 per cent, with about a 16 per cent rise for general telegraph message service. The press rate stays unchanged.

One distinction that had been accorded her was being made an honorary colonel of a military regiment at Ft. Worth, through measures which gave the government authority to bar suspected spies and saboteurs from defense plants and dissolve Communist-led unions and organizations.

The citizenship measure was advocated by President Eisenhower and is part of the anti-subversive program sent to Capitol Hill by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

It would provide for automatic loss of citizenship to anyone convicted of violation of the Smith Act by conspiring to overthrow the government by violent means.

In junking the two Brownell security bills, the committee adopted a substitute proposal by Rep. Walter D. Dyer to create an 18-member commission to study the question before recommending new legislation.

Western Union Rates For Interstate Work Go Up 11 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Union's interstate rates went up an average 11 per cent at midnight last night, a boost the Federal Communications Commission figures will bring the telegraph company another nine million dollars a year.

FCC okayed the firm's proposed rate hike yesterday, saying it is designed to restore Western Union's earnings to the 5 per cent level recorded in the first half of 1953. It states regulatory bodies allow similar increases for business within the state, FCC said, the company would pick up another nine million annually.

The interstate increases range from 3 to 20 per cent, with about a 16 per cent rise for general telegraph message service. The press rate stays unchanged.

Sen. McCarthy Calls Probers To a Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called his Senate Investigations subcommittee to a meeting today which could boil up a fight over demands for staff firings.

He is seeking permission at the closed session to launch at once a new public investigation of what he calls infiltration of defense plants by 133 subversives. But a majority of the subcommittee's seven members have declared that a "house cleaning" of the staff should take precedence.

This is the group's first meeting since its 36-day hearings into his row with top Army officials, in which the subcommittee has not yet handed down a verdict.

At the windup of the hearings four weeks ago today one subcommittee member—Sen. Potter (R-Mich.)—announced he believed each side had proved main charges, and that employees on each side should be dismissed. In advance of today's meeting, he and his fellow staff members had added that some staff changes should have priority over any other subcommittee business. He has not mentioned any names.

Two of the subcommittee's three Democratic members, armed with proxy votes to cast for the absent Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), declined to say what moves they planned. But Senators Jackson (D-Wash.) and Symington (D-Mo.) said they have not receded from their demands for "a house cleaning" among McCarthy appointees on the staff.

McCarthy reserved comment on the meeting, and on new developments in efforts by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) to have McCarthy fired from chairmanship of the subcommittee and its parent Government Operations Committee.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, announced yesterday he will oppose Flanders' move. But Flanders told a news conference he thinks he has "an excellent chance" to get Senate approval.

In a Senate speech Flanders said such a step would "but an end to the destructive forces" he contends McCarthy wields, particularly in the subcommittee.

He was a brother of J. H. Brooks, 4100 South Kentucky, Sedalia, and of C. C. Brooks, Boise, Id. His wife preceded him in death in March, 1948, as did his parents.

He was a son of Thomas H. and Elizabeth Chambers Brooks and was born in Vernon County, Mo., Oct. 16, 1882.

He was married Dec. 30, 1908, to Miss Stella Gracey in Monticello County. He was a member of Ottumville Presbyterian Church, past master of the Masonic lodge of Leeton.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Friday at the Leeton Christian Church, the Rev. James M. Mohler to officiate, assisted by the Rev. Darnell.

Music will be by Mrs. Lester Preston, Mrs. Russell Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mohler and Mrs. Forest Wyatt.

Palbearers will be Clyde Shepherd, Walter Wyatt, Lloyd Granger, J. C. Wolf, Clay Underwood and Walter Hunter.

The body was in the Brauninger Funeral Home at Warrensburg and was taken to Leeton Thursday afternoon.

Burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery, Ottumville, in the family lot.

St. Louis Is Seared With Hottest Day; Has 150 Heat Cases

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The metropolitan area was seared yesterday with the hottest day in its history and at least 24 persons died as hospitals struggled to cope with heat cases.

The temperature soared to an all-time high of 112.3 degrees in downtown St. Louis and 115 at the Municipal Airport in St. Louis County late in the day. The previous high here was 110.2 in 1934.

The use of electricity and water broke all previous records.

Many downtown offices dismissed employees at noon.

More than 150 persons were hospitalized with heat prostration, and even one doctor at City Hospital was overcome as he worked on other heat victims.

Hospitals listed the heat as a direct or contributing cause in the deaths of 20 persons yesterday, including three in nearby Illinois. Four more such deaths were reported today.

Swimming Pool Draws

Attendance at the Liberty Park swimming pool has been averaging more than 1000 per day during the heat of the past several days. Sunday had 1200, Monday a few less than 1000, Tuesday 1100 and Wednesday 1087.

Gov. Kennon Heads Group Of Governors

By JACK BELL
BOLTON LANDING, N.Y. (P) — A Democratic supporter of President Eisenhower, Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, heads the Governors Conference for a year that may bring some significant changes in relations of the states with the federal government.

Kennon was elected chairman to succeed Republican Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado as the final conference sessions here yesterday.

The group approved a resolution calling for a survey of road needs in connection with Eisenhower's proposed $10-billion highway construction program.

The conference agreed to meet next year in Chicago.

Although the members avoid all outward appearances of politics and alternate the chairmanship between Republicans and Democrats, the choice of Kennon as titular head for the next 12 months was regarded in some quarters as indicating widespread support for Eisenhower.

Kennon is known to have had the backing of Gov. James F. Byrnes, South Carolina Democrat who announced here that he is continuing the support he gave Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Most of the Republican governors were glad to vote for Kennon, another Democratic bolter in that campaign, as were many of the Southern Democrats.

While everyone concerned denied politics played any part, some significance was read into selection of Kennon instead of Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby of Kentucky, a regular Democrat.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, who has been on friendly political terms with Byrnes, apparently was kept off the conference executive committee by a new rule against naming as members of that group governors seeking re-election.

Byrnes headed the nominating committee which put the rule into effect. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York Republican, was reported to have told the conference in a closed session that it was making a mistake because such a rule eliminated veteran members from consideration.

Wetherby was chosen as a member of the executive committee. Others named to that group, headed by Kennon, include J. Hugo Aronson of Montana, J. C. Bess of Delaware, George N. Craig of Indiana, Arthur B. Langlie of Washington and William G. Stratton of Illinois, all Republicans; and Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri and Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia, Democrats.

Kennon is an advocate of increased state control over road building, an issue that may come to a head in a projected post-election conference of the governors.

The governors want the federal government to get out of the field of gasoline and fuel oil taxes, leaving these to the states to finance highway work of their own choosing.

But the President's proposal for a vast system of coast-to-coast superhighways appeared to call for federal direction in linking these up and the governors knew it, even though they were reluctant to admit it publicly.

The upshot of three days of discussion of the issue was adoption of a resolution calling for a study of highway needs which could be laid before Eisenhower later in the year.

If the governors can come up with some plan to let the states control the construction of such a system, many of them will feel that they have taken a significant step toward regaining some of the powers the states have lost to the federal government.

Army Probes 237 Security, Loyalty Cases

WASHINGTON (P) — The Army reported to Congress today it is now investigating 237 security cases involving questions of loyalty.

These figures were given to the Senate Armed Services Committee by Asst. Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton in a hearing on the security check program of the Defense Department.

Earlier, Secretary of Defense Wilson had reported that during the last four months the Pentagon had reduced from 20 to seven, mostly by discharging men from the service—the number of cases involving doctors and dentists who were drafted by denied commissions for security reasons.

Milton, testifying on the Army's part in the loyalty check program, said that since last March the Army has received 214 new cases of all types and that as of June 30 there was a total of 237 cases pending. Between March 21 and June 30 there was a total of 237 cases pending. Between March 21 and June 30, he said, 48 men were discharged from service.

Wilson recalled that last April the Pentagon issued new regulations designed "not only to rid the services of undesirable security risks who might be in the armed forces, but also to block off at all points the entry of such persons into the military services."

He said there has been "a revitalization of the entire department from the top echelons down with respect to strengthening, accelerating and making more effective our machinery to protect the security of the nation within the Department of Defense." Then he asserted:

"I hasten to add, however, that this does not mean cutting corners or infringing upon the rights of the nation itself, indeed an essential factor in its preservation, is the importance of the fundamental rights guaranteed every person under our Constitution."

Farmers Call Meeting Monday On Beef Program

JEFFERSON CITY (P) — A statewide committee of farm leaders will meet here Monday to draft a proposal that the federal government resume immediately its emergency beef purchase program.

L. C. Carpenter, state agriculture commissioner, said the plan was approved today by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly in a telephone call just before the governor left the National Governors' conference he has been attending this week at Lake George, New York.

Carpenter said M. J. Flynn, president of the Kansas City Livestock Exchange, will be asked to give the emergency committee the facts on the increased flow of distress cattle marketings as a result of the current heat wave.

Carpenter toured livestock markets at Kansas City, St. Joseph and Springfield yesterday and found heavy marketings of cows and commercial grade cattle at the Kansas City market.

The situation was not so serious at St. Joseph and Springfield, but livestock experts there agreed the government purchase program should start at once if it is to do any good in stabilizing the market.

The committee of agricultural college and farm organization leaders called to meet Monday is the same group that developed Missouri's emergency hay shipping program last year.

Carpenter said that so far he has been able to learn the U. S. Department of Agriculture already has the machinery set up to resume buying commercial grade beef for the school lunch program and public institutions.

Russians Try Normalecy As New Weapon

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Russians have unveiled a new weapon in the cold war. It is the normal look.

Trapped in a monumental bureaucracy, the Soviets are attempting to convince the world that they are just as normal as anybody else, if not more so.

Outside their borders they have had some success. Their cultural offensive has prospered. Dozens of Soviet writers, artists and athletes have sailed forth—under unobtrusive surveillance—to spread the word that the Soviet Union's regime is interested only in making the world one big, happy family.

In turn, the Russians have dusted off the welcome mat for many a tourist from abroad.

The Russians have pulled the rug from under writers and scientists who in Stalin's day flourished by toadying to his pet fetishes. It is now proper for a Russian scientist to speak respectfully of Albert Einstein's relativity theory and Darwin's theories of evolution.

Prof. Lysenko, the biologist who made himself a feared scientific dictator by heaving strictly to the Stalin line, now is in semidisgrace. All this—and much more of the same—good Russian propaganda abroad. In such a background, Russian arguments become more persuasive, Russian protestations of peaceful coexistence become more convincing.

Internally, Russia's social development is struggling toward the point passed by Western nations somewhere in the Victorian era. A Victorian morality—quite alien to robust Russians—is being imposed from on high.

The ruling Communist regime is attempting the impossible in trying to persuade Russians to avoid alcoholic stimulants—the same stimulants downed with such vigor by the big shots. The ordinary Ivan is just as fond of his vodka as Molotov is.

The controlled press is crying horror at the morals of youth. Teen-agers, spoiled brats, whose Communist party parents give them too much money, are drinking, smoking, swearing and helling their way through life, avoiding work, becoming snobs, marrying for money, following fads, chasing girls, and doing all the things gilded youth might have done in 1880 London.

The official press expresses concern for the sanctity of the home. Divorces are harder to get. Only recently young Communists were instructed in their official journal that jealousy no longer is to be regarded as a "bourgeois survival" but a proper emotion for the new Soviet man protecting his happiness.

All this may serve to convince some in the outside world that Russia is becoming more normal. But at home people must be confused.

Flat Creek 4-Hers Plan Ice Cream Social

The Flat Creek 4-H Club held a meeting July 6 at Anderson School. Fifteen members, five visitors and two leaders were present. Patty Ball was acting chairman in the absence of the president and roll call was answered with what each member likes most about the July 4 picnic.

The club decided to have an ice cream social on July 19 at Anderson School. The committee in charge is: chairman, Charles Hopkins, Donnie Wissman, Peggy Murray, and Leona Perkins.

Dick Wissman gave a talk on poultry. Mrs. Robert Welliver, who has been assistant community leader, has been appointed community leader in the absence of Mrs. Charles Keele, who is recovering from an operation and is on sick leave.

Games were played and enjoyed by all.

Merry-Go-Round Business Men Get Higher Subsidies Than U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON. — Few people have ever seen the budget of the United States. Some people think it's merely an ethereal set of figures that Congress debates about every year. Actually, however, it's about the size of a New York phone book and just about as dull. The last few pages, however, are extremely significant and ought to be paraded on the Senate floor during the debate on so-called farm subsidies.

For these figures show the amount of subsidies paid to farmers, veterans, businessmen, and others. Highest subsidy, of course, is listed as paid to veterans in the form of bonuses and hospitalization, totaling $4,214,000,000 in 1953.

What may surprise some people, however, is that subsidy paid to businessmen is about twice as much as that paid to farmers. Farmers got $523,000,000 for soil conservation, price supports, and other government help in 1953; whereas businessmen got $1,216,000,000.

This aid to business, incidentally, was not to small businessmen. It was to upper-bracket business which has yelled so loud about "creeping Socialism" yet spent so much money lobbying Congress into voting more money for "galloping favoritism."

They include "helpless little groups" like the United States Steel Corporation, the big utility companies, and some of the big shipping companies.

Humphrey Got Tax Write-Off—

Here, for instance, are some of the subsidies big business has been able to obtain—in contrast to farmers' price supports.

The M. A. Hanna Company, one of the biggest iron and steel holding companies in the USA, largely owned and operated by George Humphrey before he became Secretary of Treasury, got more than $22,000,000 in tax subsidies just a few weeks before he entered the cabinet. The Hanna Coal and Ore Co., one of his subsidiaries, got a 75 per cent depreciation on an $11,345,000 iron-ore investment in Minnesota and another 70 per cent tax write-off on a $22,000,000 nickel plant in Oregon. The two plants were permitted to depreciate 70 and 75 per cent of their value in five years instead of about 25 years.

These tax write-offs were rushed through during the last few weeks of the Truman administration so Humphrey's company would not be embarrassed by asking for them when he became Secretary of the Treasury later.

Today the new tax bill gives the same kind of quick depreciation tax write-offs to other types of big business, and Randolph Paul, former general counsel of the Treasury and author of "Taxation in the United States," has told Congressmen this tax subsidy will cost the public $40,000,000,000 in the next 17 years. In contrast, when a farmer builds a barn he gets no tax write-off, but must spread his depreciation over a period of about 30 years.

Utility Subsidies

The big utility companies spend an average of half a million dollars a year on their lobby to influence Congress. At least that's the amount they register officially with Congress. Today this appears to be reaping dividends. One utility combine, Dixon-Yates, has just put across by special order of President Eisenhower a 25-year contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, despite the opposition of a majority of AE commissioners.

Under this order, Dixon-Yates will invest only $5,300,000 cash, be guaranteed a 9 per cent return by Uncle Sam; will own the plant at the end of 25 years; and will get the benefit of an annual $3,600,000 overcharge made up by the taxpayers for the difference between what they would have to pay TVA instead of Dixon-Yates.

This was why Congressman Holifield of California, a member of the Congressional committee on Atomic Energy, calls this not "creeping Socialism" but "galloping federal favoritism."

In contrast the farmer is guaranteed no 9 per cent return on his investment. He has been guaranteed 90 per cent of the price paid during a cross-section average of previous years.

More Gravy

Here are some of the other subsidies to business to which the U. S. budget refers when it shows that business annually gets about twice the subsidy given to farmers:

Certain airlines get between $70,000,000 and $95,000,000 annually for carrying mail. On top of this the taxpayers have paid for Radar, lighting beacons and other safety aids for the airlines totaling $21,361,040 in 1951, $13,007,035 in 1952, and $7,000,000 in 1953. Taxpayers also paid $73,931,733 for personnel to operate these safety aids in 1951, plus $80,484,761 in 1952, plus about $105,000,000 in 1953. In addition, another $37,000,000 and $16,000,000 went for runways and construction work at airports in 1951-52 and another $19,821,000 in 1953.

The shipping companies also get an average of around $30,000,000 a year in subsidies to operate their vessels; the United States Lines got a construction subsidy of $18,225,000, plus a national defense subsidy of $24,061,000 for building the SS United States; while the Grace Lines and Moore McCormick are being voted subsidies for four new vessels by the current Congress.

These vessels will be turned over to the United States in time of war and this subsidy policy may be a wise one. Also it is around to keep U. S. airlines operating around the world. But likewise, the American farmer has to feed a good part of the world in case of war and he, like the shipping and airplane companies, can't contract and expand his economy for peace or wars without facing economic chaos.

High On Totem Pole

Indirect subsidies given to American business, though not listed by the U. S. budget, also include such things as giving war factories to big business for a song — such as per the gift of the government steel plant at Geneva, Utah, to U. S. Steel for only $47,175,000 though the government paid $191,326,000 when private industry flatly refused to build.

And last year the Eisenhower administration decided to sell the government-owned rubber factories to private industry, though the taxpayers shelled out millions for them, and though they made profit for the government one year ago of $73,000,000.

These are some of the reasons why the farm belt has turned sour on Washington and why farmers feel unhappy when Jack Davis, former right-hand man of Secretary of Agriculture Benson, describes the farmer as "high man on the totem pole."

"Dreamy" Nehru-Chou Meet Was Nightmare for West

By Bruce Blossett

The recent dispatches from New Delhi, India, had a dreamy and at the same time an ominous quality. Prime Minister Nehru and Premier Chou En-lai of Red China conferred on the subject of an Asian "peace."

Stopping just short of expressions of fraternal regard, the two leaders pledged India and China to follow a "good neighbor" policy in keeping with their "traditional friendship."

Chou said he hoped the two countries could work more closely for the "noble aim of safeguarding peace in Asia."

If Nehru has any private reservation about this line of talk, we are not likely to learn of them. Publicly, he gives every sign that he is accepting Chou's professions of peaceful intent at face value.

He shows no evidence he realizes that Red China, in pursuit of its "good neighbor" policy, was in the end the principal aggressor in Korea against free peoples, or that Red China is the arsenal, staging base and GHQ for the Viet Minh rebels who have plunged Indo-China in protracted bloody fighting.

It is as clear as the shining sun that Communist China will take all of Asia it can get, either directly or through domination of lesser Communist forces. And that does not exclude India.

Yet Nehru either cannot or will not face this. He prefers to imagine that Asia somehow will be a better place to live if the West is deprived of all influence there, and the world's greatest continent is left to the control of its own Asiatic brethren.

In theory all decent men naturally subscribe to the doctrine of self-government. But in Asia today, communism gets in the way of this theory. Nehru obviously does not understand what it means to have a tyrant for a brother.

The prewar Japanese were Asiatic "brothers," too. They spoke of a "co-prosperity sphere" for all Asiatic peoples, usually neglecting to mention that they planned to sit on top of the sphere.

We cannot simply dismiss these new utterances as dreamy, fantastic stuff. Nehru is beyond question a figure of stature and prestige in Asia.

If the free peoples of East and West are to draw a line against communism, if there is to be effective alliance to this end, India ought to be a key part of the effort.

In the Delhi talks, Nehru allowed the leader of a ruthless tyranny to partake of his own prestige, to bask in its reflection. At the same time, he gave Chou an opportunity to endorse—in principle—Nehru's pet notion for Asia, a non-aggression pact to be concluded by China and the countries of Southeast Asia.

Nehru should study the history of non-aggression pacts entered into by Communist nations. Most have been reduced to confetti. He should also ask himself why any Southeast Asian land needs to reassure China, by treaty, of its peaceful purposes. The threat comes from just one source in Asia: from Nehru's "good neighbor," China.

The Chou-Nehru meeting was ominous because it seems to have increased prospects for the sort of non-aggression pact Nehru believes in, and to have decreased chances for the solid alliance of free men of both East and West which alone can halt communism.

If the meeting sounded like a dream, it was certainly a bad dream.

Abnormal Thyroid Glands Can Be Treated Successfully

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

The thyroid is a gland which lies toward the front of the neck just above the breast bone.

When it is enlarged, the condition is spoken of as goiter. When it is not only enlarged but the cells of the gland are secreting excessively or abnormally, a disease is produced known as toxic goiter, exophthalmic goiter, hyperthyroidism, Graves' disease or other names.

When the gland is producing an insufficient hormone secretion, hypothyroidism is said to be present.

In children it is called cretinism. Cretinism must be suspected in all children who are underweight at birth. Signs of slowed development of the bones which can be discovered by X-ray examination are also typical.

Cretinous Children grow slowly and their mental development is also slow. Their hair is likely to be thin and the skin dry.

Teething is delayed, the abdomen is usually swollen, the legs short and thick and the extremities in general underdeveloped.

Such children are especially susceptible to infections and if untreated usually die while quite young.

In grownups insufficient thyroid secretion causes a condition called myxedema. This too is rather rare in this country and because it is so rare, its victims frequently remain diagnostic puzzles for many years before the true cause is determined.

Loss of memory and mental dullness are common in myxedema. Backaches and pain in the limbs and joints may be present. The skin becomes thickened, roughened and dry. The features are coarsened, the lips become thickened and the nostrils and mouth enlarge.

There are other signs of low thyroid activity in grownups.

Successful treatment both of cretinism and myxedema consists in supplying the patient with thyroid extracts obtained from animals.

The response to the proper treatment in myxedema is remarkable; the symptoms disappear and a new crop of hair grows in. Even in children when treatment with thyroid extract is begun early, growth and development can be re-established.

Flexor muscles in the palm of the orangutan clench the fist so tightly that museum collectors, skinning one of the animals, found it necessary to cut the muscles before they could straighten out the fingers.

The World Today— Geneva Conference Not Clear

(By James Marlow)

WASHINGTON. — At this moment the clearest thing that can be said about the Geneva conference on Indochina is that it is not clear at all. Visibility should improve in the next few days. The conference is near a climax.

The Communists have victory within their grasp. But if their appetite is too big Indochina might turn into a shooting war that could involve the United States.

The French for almost eight years have been fighting the Communist-led Vietminh in Viet Nam, one of Indochina's three states. Now they want peace.

It seems certain French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, meeting at Geneva with Russia's V. M. Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai, is willing to let the Vietminh have the northern part of Viet Nam while the French retain the southern half.

Being able to force the French into this kind of settlement would, by itself, be a clear victory for the Communists. That much, and no more, seems certain now.

What isn't clear is this: Will the Communists demand only half of Viet Nam or all of it? And if only half, on what conditions? And if the Communists press Mendes-France, will he, to get peace at any price, yield all of Viet Nam?

When he took over the French government almost a month ago he promised he'd get peace in Indochina within 30 days or quit.

If he quit and the French felt their efforts for an "honorable" peace had been spurned, their fighting spirit might revive to carry on the war with greater sacrifices than they've been willing to make in eight years.

They probably would not do so without assurances of active help on their side by the United States. Just how much help the United States and Britain would give has been one of the most thoroughly unclear parts of the whole picture.

Bob Thomas in Hollywood— Fifty Offers Per Day Come In for John Wayne Stories

By HUBBARD KEAVY

(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD. — One hundred and ten times a day the phones ring in the Wayne-Fellows office and 50 of these calls, on the average, are from writers or agents with stories they think will make John Wayne movies.

Bob Fellows, who is Wayne's partner, talks to every one of the 50 and at least listens. But, being cautious, he doesn't buy many stories. The few he and Wayne have bought and filmed have been, with two exceptions, remarkably successful.

Writers with adventure stories think of the star with the ageless face first, just as song pluggers always start with Crosby or Cole or Fisher.

"We don't have any rules for picking stories," says Fellows, who was an unsuccessful actor in the '20s before he became DeMille's chair boy. (A chair boy means it that the director's chair is strategically placed. Fellows advanced rapidly, but not because he knew where to put the chair.) "You use your accumulated experience."

Something told Wayne and me that "Island in the Sky" was right. The same goes for "Hondo" and "The High and the Mighty." The last two will make an awful lot of money."

Two that were equally good, were "Plunder in the Sun" and "Big Jim McClain," but they came out in black and white on small screen when most other movies were acquiring color and the new wide-screen look. The company will break even at least on those two.

When Fellows hears of an idea he believes will be good, he outlines it to his partner, who apparently listens more than he reads. "But if Wayne says 'no soap,' I don't argue with him. He knows too well."

"The stories about GIs helping Korean children have been numerous and full of heart. I told Wayne about the idea and he said, 'Let's do a story.' So we are having Taylor Caldwell write it for us."

The former Marine colonel, Andrew Gear, who wrote "Sea Chase," told us about an incident in Korea, so he's now writing "Give Away Hill" for us."

Wayne may star in both Korean stories, but not necessarily."

The Mighty MILO Phillips Rogers

THE STORY: There is some talk that Fred Anspach won his bout at the Odd Fellows hall by outside assistance when somebody turned off the lights. But Fred won and Milo, a funny little wrestler, seemed to have bet a lot of money on Fred. As a result Milo is driving a bright red new car.

XII
ALL I could think about was Betty Jane Blane seeing me drive with some other girl sitting next to me, real close. "Whose is it?" I asked, petting the upholstery. Milo smiled.

"Milo buy. Pay down payment. Money make Odd Fall." He went on to explain that his Greek friends were all stooges, who had used his money to bet on me with. It just went to show how smart Milo was.

"Is yours, any time you want use," Milo said. "But promise me for take wamans. Bad for rattle. Is better for go in country, for watch clouds, like sheep in sky."

It was pretty swell of him to offer me the car whenever I wanted to use it and I sure appreciated it, but I can hardly imagine having an automobile just to run out to the country. I've often wondered how fellows got along before there were cars. Imagine trying to date a girl on a bicycle! Well, it was done, I guess, but never by me. I could just see the envious look on Betty Jane Blane's face while she stood on a street corner with that tennis player, and I went by in the Marmon, with the cutout open.

I could have forgiven her for dating a fellow who wasn't an athlete, but a tennis player was too much.

Anyway, like my diet, where I ate what Milo said during the day and raided the icebox before I went to bed, what Milo didn't know wouldn't hurt me, as proved by the way I was taking on weight, which is very important to a wrestler. And I could understand why Milo didn't like women. Probably they all

French agreement that within a certain time the Vietnamese will be allowed to vote in free elections for the government they want, after which the French would withdraw.

If the French buy that, the Allies can just about kiss off Indochina. Reports from there have indicated the Vietnamese in French territory now would vote for the Vietminh.

If the French make any deal by which they agree to withdraw from all of Indochina, the Allies can kiss off all Indochina. The Communists won't have to attack the rest of it. They can be depended upon to subvert it from within.

The Communists may decide the best way to foul up the West is simply to demand part of Viet Nam under a truce arrangement. That would turn Indochina into another Korea. There'd be no peace. But the Communists would have time for maneuvers.

French agreement that within a certain time the Vietnamese will be allowed to vote in free elections for the government they want, after which the French would withdraw.

If the French buy that, the Allies can just about kiss off Indochina. Reports from there have indicated the Vietnamese in French territory now would vote for the Vietminh.

mat and laugh his fool head off at the idea of anyone as short as Milo picking him up and setting him down with so little trouble. Strength for strength, I do not believe there was anything to choose between them, but Milo in his gabbled English used to explain that Herman's trouble came out of his diet.

According to this old guy who had taught Milo, the strongest animals in the world were those who never ate animal meat. Milo said that the most dangerous animal in the world, which tigers feared, as well as humans who had no guns, was some kind of buffalo that he'd seen when he was a sailor. What did it live on?

Grass.

Elephants lived on vegetation and so did big bulls, which could move plenty fast. Bears, one of the strongest animals there was, lived on stuff like honey and insects they picked from under rocks, or fish, in the case of polar bears, which didn't altogether support Milo's contentions.

HE did say that the animals who ate meat, like tigers and lions, went to sleep afterward, and that was what was wrong with Herman, who was half asleep most of the time.

Somehow, Milo thought that all the promoters would start making a path to his door after the Odd Fellows bouts, which were duly written up in the papers, and when nothing happened he began to feel despondent. I would have settled on being able to make a down payment on a Marmon and hope to keep up what was due monthly, but not Milo. He was so discouraged he didn't even want to go out in the car, and I drove it so much that a lot of people began to think that it belonged to me, which I never denied, exactly.

One night I parked the Marmon in front of the Y and went up to the lobby. Mr. Dunkelberger, my ex-Sunday school teacher, said, "Good evening, Freddie. Those two gorillas you consort with are down in the gym. The one that speaks a little English asked for you."

Finn Twins End Hunger Strike Today

HOLLYWOOD —Haggard after 23 days in jail without food, the freed Finn twins sipped milk and gulped vitamin pills today.

George and Charles, who lost 50 pounds between them during their fast in protest against what they termed the injustice of one-year sentences for interfering with a government officer, are in La Brea Hospital.

They were whisked to the hospital by ambulance late yesterday after being released from the California Medical Facility at Terminal Island on $1,000 bond each, pending their appeal.

They had vowed to starve to death rather than eat while in custody.

All their troubles stemmed from purchase of a war surplus C46 cargo plane from a school district. The government contends the purchase was illegal. The twins, both of whom have fine wartime flying records, contend it was legal.

At the moment the 40-year-old twins are more concerned with what they denied themselves for 23 days—food.

Both agree that the first three days of their self-imposed fast were the toughest. Hunger pangs bothered them most of that time.

After the first three days, they tried not to think of food.

"The only time it was tough from then on," said Charles, "was when we were asleep. One night I dreamed of a charcoal-broiled steak. I was eating it with my fingers and believe me, I could taste it."

Charles, the stronger of the two, said that one night George dreamed of being in a cake factory. It was filled with giant cakes, three feet wide and five tall.

For awhile their diet won't be that rich. The first few hours they received small meals every hour—milk, vitamin pills and rare ground steak having high vitamin C and D content. Doctors said it will be a couple of weeks before they can leave the hospital.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals granted the bail yesterday after the twins' attorney, Bernard Cohen, argued that Federal Judge Edward Murphy committed "many flagrant errors" in sentencing the Finns and refusing them bail.

The Finns were convicted of interfering with U. S. Atty. Laughlin Waters with a so-called citizens' arrest. Cohen said the twins believed they had a right to make the arrest "because in their minds he (Waters) had committed a felony in depriving them of an airplane."

The Finn case began with their purchase of the plane from the school district near Bakersfield, Calif., where it was used as a classroom. The twins spent thousands of dollars reconditioning it and flew it for 18 months. The government took back the plane, contending the contract with the school district forbade its resale except for scrap.

Brownell Is Invited To Address National Bar Association

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Brownell has been invited by the National Bar Assn., originally formed as an organization by Negro attorneys, to address its next annual convention in Kansas City during the first week of September.

Association President Harold Flowers, Pine Bluff, Ark., said the Kansas City Bar Assn., affiliated with the American Bar Assn., had asked the national association in Kansas City to hold a joint session with national if the invitation is accepted.

Pathologists Need More Time In Thorne Case

CHICAGO —A decision on how mail order their Montgomery Ward Thorne met his death has been put off for at least two weeks.

A panel of pathologists announced yesterday they will require much additional time to complete their examination of all his vital organs and of veins removed from his arms.

They expect to determine whether punctures in the veins were caused by injections of narcotics shortly before his mysterious death June 19—nine days after he made drastic revisions in his will.

Dr. Harry Leon, coroner's physician, has blamed the death on a combination of drugs, narcotics and wood alcohol. He opined a second person might be involved. However, some physicians disagreed with his published findings.

The panel of pathologists was delegated the job of making a new and more complete examination.

Thorne's body was exhumed Tuesday and the autopsy and preliminary examination made yesterday.

In the rewritten version of his will, Thorne, 29, left three quarters of his near-two-million dollar estate to his sweetheart, Maureen Ragen, and her mother Leon. His own mother, Marion, who was sole beneficiary under his original will, was left a one-eighth share.

Burglar Uses Fire Pole to Escape

COLUMBUS, Ohio —A burglar found that shiny brass pole in a Columbus firehouse the means for a quick exit.

Fire Lt. Thomas Curran said he awakened and saw a man at the foot of his bed. He shouted at him and the man slid quickly down the pole and fled.

The intruder had stolen about $76 from the pockets of sleeping firemen.

Congress Highlights

WASHINGTON —The Senate Investigations subcommittee prepares to meet under Sen. McCarthy's chairmanship for the first time since its 36-day hearings into the Wisconsin Republican's row with top Army officials.

McCarthy is seeking permission to start immediately a new public investigation of what he calls infiltration of defense plants by 133 subversives. However, a majority of the group's seven members have said a "house cleaning" of the staff should come first and the meeting could produce a fight over this issue.

TAXES—A Senate-House conference committee heads back to work after approving a more liberal Senate plan to give special tax relief to millions of public workers who may retire before 65.

The committee is trying to work out compromises on hundreds of differences between Senate and House versions of a big tax revision bill backed by the Eisenhower administration.

ATOMIC—The Senate is due to meet two hours early to get back to debate on a bill to allow a greater exchange of atomic information with foreign allies and to permit private industry to engage in peace time atomic activities. This is a program urged by President Eisenhower.

The biggest argument is over an Eisenhower order directing the Atomic Energy Commission to conclude a 25-year contract with a private utility group for a steam plant to service the Memphis, Tenn., area over Tennessee Valley Authority lines. This power would replace TVA power being shifted to the AEC's Paducah, Ky., plant.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said some Republicans will line up with many Democratic senators for an amendment aimed at blocking the proposed contract.

NLRB Tightens Rules On Acceptable Cases Under Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON —The National Labor Relations Board has again tightened its rules on cases it will accept under the Taft-Hartley law, in effect turning more labor disputes involving small firms over to the states.

The action announced last night, together with a similar move taken June 30, is estimated to cut the number of NLRB cases by about 15 per cent.

The board fixed standards of size applying to retail stores, newspapers, radio and television stations, utility and transit systems, and national defense plants.

For example, it henceforth will handle cases arising from newspapers only if they have at least $500,000 yearly gross revenue, or from radio and TV stations if their annual gross is at least $200,000. Previously there were no such limits if operations affected interstate commerce.

Ex-Convict Held for Rape Of Tiny Baby

LUBBOCK, Tex. —A tall, strapping 195-pounder charged with the rape of a 5-month-old infant was held here for "safekeeping." The police said the jail at Seminole was "not of the maximum security type."

Earlier, officers had denied a newspaper report that "ominous little groups of men" gathered around the Seminole jail.

Hughes, who stands 6 feet 2, was arrested yesterday about two miles from his abandoned automobile after the father of Jackie Jo Davis took the tot from the ex-convict and rushed her to a Seminole hospital.

Officers said Hughes took the child from her bed while the parents, a former GI and his Japanese wife, were at a Hobbs, N.M., bar where the father is a bartender.

The mother, Mrs. Jack Davis, 26, left Hughes with the infant and a 5-year-old son while she visited her husband at the bar. The Davis' two-room cabin is about 20 or 30 feet inside Texas across the line from Hobbs.

The boy was still asleep and unharmed when the mother returned to the cabin, but Hughes and Jackie Jo were missing.

Deputy Sheriff J. C. Fort of Lea County, N.M., said Davis found Hughes and the baby about 4 a.m. took the child from the ex-convict and rushed her to Seminole, where officers were notified.

Fort said Texas officers reported the incident to him and he tracked Hughes two miles from the spot where the Texans had recovered his car.

Hughes and the three Gaines County officers were met last night at Brownfield by two Texas Rangers and Lubbock County Sheriff Grady Harritt, who escorted the group into Lubbock.

Harritt said Hughes talked freely about the case but maintained he could not remember what happened. The sheriff said the man appeared deeply concerned about his involvement.

Yankees After Indians; Only Back 1/2 Game

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

The hapless, hitless and practically helpless Baltimore Orioles invaded Yankee Stadium and the Philadelphia A's, equally futile, entertained the Cleveland Indians in what you might call the opener of the "new" American League pennant race.

Prof. Casey Stengel's Yankees, who spent the first half of the season flopping and floundering, have a nine-game winning streak going and are now just half a game behind the Indians, whose latest work included dropping four games to the Chicago White Sox.

The consensus around the league is that the Yankees have the upper hand now with one big "if." He is Allie Reynolds, who missed the All-Star Game because of a muscle pull in his left hip.

The ailment is a chronic one, but if it bothers him too much he may be forced back to the bullpen. Stengel has no abundance of pitchers so that could spell the difference between first and second place.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez says he is not particularly worried over the events of the past week. He has one point — namely, the Indians are not the kind of club that will be held to five runs in four games as they were against the White Sox last weekend.

"Al Rosen and Bob Avila have been in batting slumps since their injuries," he said. "They're just in slumps that every player has to fight his way out of sometimes. They'll snap out of it and we'll be more dangerous than ever."

The White Sox, for their part, are three games off the pace and the way their pitching has come around, could make things uncomfortable for all concerned. Manager Paul Richards will send Bon Keegan against the Washington Senators tonight.

In the National League, the New York Giants start a Western trip with a five-game bulge over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who whipped the Milwaukee Braves 2-1 in 12 innings last night in the only major league game played.

The Brooklyn victory came the hard way before a crowd of 35,470, which boosted the Milwaukee attendance over the million mark. Duke Snider batted in the runs in the first and fifth innings on sacrifice flies. Jim Hughes, who took over for Russ Meyer in the ninth, was the winner.

Missouri Golfer, Sailor Have Best Scores in Meet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A baker from St. Louis and a sailor from Jacksonville, Fla., had the rest of the field on edge today as the 29th Public Links Golf Tournament moved into the fifth round.

The Baker, Joe Evans, blistered Cedar Crest's par 71, 6,296-yard course with two sub-par rounds yesterday as he ousted Bob Ludwig of Indianapolis, 7 and 6, and Mike Andonian of Pontiac, Mich., 5 and 4.

William Scarbrough, a giant chief petty officer from Jacksonville, Fla., licked Larry Holshouser of Charlotte, N. C., 3 and 2 and then had an eagle finale for a 5 and 4 victory over Milton Frank of St. Louis.

Scarbrough was 4 under par in his match with the little Missouri postman. His eagle crushed Frank after the latter had birdied the par 5 14th hole.

E. F. Shively, Dayton, O., carried Art Jennemann, St. Louis, 20 holes before winning, 1 up.

The fifth round and quarter-finals will be played today.

Middlecoff Evades Manakiki Golf Tourney

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Manakiki Open, with a "bit-of-everything" flavor, opened today with 133 professionals seeking to split a $25,000 purse and 7 amateurs tagging along for a bit of glory.

The 72-hole medal play test, on an 18-par day is slated over through Sunday, is slated over Manakiki Golf Club's 6,651-yard, par-72 layout. The tree-infested, hilly course offers a stern test.

Missing is last year's victor and the season's top money winner, Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis. He arrived here Tuesday, hung around for a couple of hours and then headed for St. Paul. He gave no explanation of why he was passing up the tournament.

Bob Shave, Manakiki professional and co-chairman of the tournament, was incensed.

"I think the PGA should take some action against him," Shave said. "After all, he promised to play here, he was our defending champion and we had advertised he'd be on hand. But he doesn't even give us an excuse when he leaves."

Landy Given Hero's Welcome on Arrival

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Australian miller John Landy was given a hero's welcome last night when he arrived by air for the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire Games.

Mayor Fred Hume, the games executive committee and hundreds of persons welcomed the shy 24-year-old runner at the airport.

In an interview later he told reporters that the popular notion he chased butterflies was "silly" and that he was confident West Santee of the United States could break the four-minute mile. He said that his time of 3:58.0 also could be broken.

The 148-pound Australian plans to start serious training this weekend for the games' mile heats on Thursday, Aug. 5, and the final on Aug. 7.

Conrad Leads All In Trans-Miss Golf Tournament

DENVER (AP) — Defending Champion Joe Conrad leads a field of 32 golfers, including nearly all the favorites, into the second round of championship play today in the 51st Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Conrad, from San Marcos, Tex., Air Force Base, meets Floyd Adington of Dallas in the first round of the medal play.

Medalist Ernie Vossler, whose qualifying round of 66 tabs him as the leading contender for Conrad's title, plays Ron Moore of Denver, 1-up winner over Rufus King of Wichita Falls, Tex., in the top match of the lower flight.

Topping the upsets in yesterday's opening round of championship play was Jim Vickers' 4 and 3 loss of David Dunn of Dallas, an 18-year-old Southern Methodist University student.

Among opening round winners were Rex Baxter, Jr., of Amarillo over Duke Evans of Wichita; Gene Zuppan of Goodland, Kan., over Keith Osborne of Corvallis, Ore., and Dick Spangler of Lincoln, Neb., over J. C. Hamilton Jr., of Tulsa.

Jackson Takes Defeat From Nino Valdes

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Valdes rides the glory road toward a 1955 shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano today as Hurricane Tommy Jackson blows harmlessly out to sea.

The lobby of Madison Square Garden told the story of last night's two-round TKO victory for the Cuban giant on the automatic three-knockdown rule. Valdes ambled through a swarm of happy admirers, pausing to sign autographs and greet handshakers with a wide grin.

Outside, in the pouring rain, Jackson walked with head down, mumbling to himself. His family trailed behind, trying to convince him to go back to the hotel.

"I won't fight nobody else until I fight him," Jackson said in his dressing room. He made a stormy scene in the ring, tearing the referee's scorecard in two, before police ushered him to his dressing room.

"He had nothing," said Valdes, through an interpreter. "He clown fighter. Everybody expect us to go to body, we go to head in second round." About Marciano? "I knock him out in four rounds."

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said "Valdes rates the next shot at Marciano after the rematch with Ezzard Charles that we hope to run in September."

Valdes, an 11-5 underdog, overwhelmed the listless Hurricane, who showed only one brief flash of his new power when he stopped Rex Layne, beat Clarence Henry and knocked out Dan Bucconeri in his exciting rise from prelin boy to No. 5 contender.

In the first round, the Cuban thumped at Jackson's body with both hands. Shifting to the head when the jugging Jackson came out for the second, Valdes drove his man half through the ropes with a solid right. Although the timekeeper counted four, Referee Al Ber ruled no knockdown.

Another right sent Jackson to the floor for an automatic-eight-count. Actually he was up at two. Another flurry and a bull rush drove Jackson to his knees. He was up at one but the count again went to the automatic eight.

The third knockdown that ended the bout, under New York rules that require a referee to halt a fight when one man has been down three times in one round, was disputed by many in the crowd of 4,465. It looked as though a push, following a blow to the neck, sent Jackson down. No matter what it was, Ber ruled "knockdown" and the fight was over at 2:35 of the second.

Campy Complains About Pitchers In 'Star Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — You probably got the same idea from television that the All-Star Game pitching Tuesday left something to be desired—and a guy who was in a position to know will back you up.

"Now," said Roy Campanella last night, "none of 'em had much."

Campy was waiting his turn in the batting cage while his Brooklyn Dodger mates were warming up for what turned out to be their 2-1, 12-inning win over Milwaukee. He caught the first seven innings of the All-Star Game for the Nationals as the American Leaguers won 11-9.

"The only one who had anything at all was (Marty) Grissom," Campanella said. "His stuff was pretty good. The rest of 'em were way off."

What about Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, who started for the Nationals and was nicked for four runs?

"He didn't have his best stuff," Campy replied. "He was behind most of 'em—2 and 0, 3 and 0—and that's not like him. Usually he's throwing it right where he wants. Why man, when I bat against him he's mostly got two strikes on me before I know it. He wasn't like that yesterday, even if he did strike out, what was it, five?"

Who looked the best for the American leaguers?

"Well, let's see," Campy said, pushing back his cap. "I didn't face (Virgil) Trucks. I guess it was (Whitey) Ford (the New York Yankee southpaw who started)."

Was he as good as in the World Series last year?

"Now," said Campy, "not that good. But he was the best they showed."

Golfers Give to Heat

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Golfers traditionally brave the rain, wind and cold but the Midwest's current heat wave was too much for them yesterday in Quincy.

When the mercury zoomed to 111 degrees, Carl Wiber, country club golf pro, closed his shop and sent the caddy-master and 25 caddies home for the day.

AND AWAY WE GO!—In the best heave-ho-my-hearties tradition, Coxswain Paul Andonian is pitched high, wide and not so handsome and into the Oakland Estuary. The Washington crew beat California by five lengths. (NEA)

Sports Roundup—

Grantland Rice Dead; Wrote About Sports for 50 Years

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the finest, most lovable men it has been our privilege to know, Grantland Rice, will not be seen around the big sports events again, and a great sadness lies today over those of us who have for all these years worked and laughed in the company of the one we called "Granny."

The great sports historian, who could write enduring poetry in his prose, and then in the morning be buried tomorrow amid the mourning of his friends, than whom few men have possessed more. If there was an enemy we never heard his name.

For going on 25 years, in every part of the country, we have been asked hundreds of times if we knew Grantland Rice. There has been a certain pride in saying yes, and then in trying to tell his readers something of the sort of man he was. There is no expectation that we will see Granny's like again.

He was like this. At the height of his fame, when he was the poet laureate of the incredible '20s and his name almost a household word, he met a rookie reporter up from Texas and made him feel that he was a very important addition to the sports-writing community. He still was doing this wonderful service for other young newcomers to the day of his death, and there never was once a trace of condescension.

Granny's daily column was a true mirror of his own character. He liked everyone he met, athletes and nonathletes alike, and that was the way he wrote through 50 years or more. If he felt that a sports figure deserved a going-over he did not hesitate to say so privately, but it simply was not in his nature to castigate a man in public.

We have heard it suggested by men who did not know Granny personally that he was perhaps overgenerous in this respect and that he might do better to join the current "get tough" school of sports writing. The answer to that one was that he appeared to have done pretty well over a long span, and that he had made nothing except friends, which was desirable.

The system of dividing the players into flights according to their qualifying scores gives all golfers an opportunity against others of similar ability.

Jim McKinney of Columbia, champion the past two years, is expected to try for three in a row.

Eleven Moundsmen May Get 20 Wins During '54 Majors' Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty, the elusive victory peak all pitchers hope to climb but only a few do, is well within reach of 11 major league moundsmen this season.

With the 1954 campaign entering its second phase, seven American League pitchers and four in the National are at least halfway "home."

Headed by Johnny Antonelli of the Giants (13-2) and Harvey Haddix of the Cards (13-4) the list includes Bob Keegan (12-3), Virgil Trucks (12-5) and Sandy Consuegra (10-3) of the White Sox, Mike Garcia (11-5) and Early Wynn (10-7) of the Indians, Robin Roberts of the Phillies (11-8), Bob Grim of the Yankees (10-3) and Steve Gromek of Detroit and Brooklyn's Carl Erskine (10-8).

Not since 1951 when 13 major league hurlers made the grade have the prospects for 20-game winners been so encouraging. However, the all-time record of 17 set in 1905 and tied in 1920 appears safe.

Cat Nests In Tree

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Herb Glasson says that four three years a cat whose name she doesn't know and whose owner she doesn't know, has used a tree in her yard for a maternity ward. The "ward" is a hollow crotch about ten feet from the ground.

Little League—Kiwanians Move Up, Defeat JCs

Standings: W L
Jaycees ..... 7 3
Rotary ..... 5 5
Kiwanis ..... 5 5
Elks ..... 3 7

At the Little League stadium Wednesday night, Kiwanis gained much needed ground as they defeated the league leading Jaycees, 2-1, and became tied in the league standings with Rotary as the Rotarians lost to the Elks, 0-10.

The first game saw Farris going all the way with Kiwanis for the victory. He had six strikeout victims and gave up seven walks. Farris had good control almost the entire contest as he held his competitors to one hit. Holman had the only hit for the Jaycees and, in the fifth, scored the only run for his team.

Both Kiwanis runs were scored in the first inning, the catcher Wadleigh, walked, Edwards singled, and Mateja, singled, scoring the two base runners.

In the second game the Elks took Barry all the way as they shut them out, 10-0. Dawson started for Rotary but after five runs had scored in the first inning, he gave way to Morgan who finished the game. Morgan gave up only three hits, two of which were home runs, one to Garrison in the second and one to Anderson in the third.

Should the Kiwanis team keep up their winning ways and the Elks team keep playing the brand of baseball they played against Rotary Wednesday, the race for the championship might be a different story than anticipated.

More Liberal Plan For Tax Cuts Wins Conference Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee has approved a more liberal Senate plan giving a special tax cut to millions of public employees who may retire before 65.

The action was one of five important decisions and scores of minor ones late yesterday as the committee pitched into the big task of settling hundreds of differences between the House and Senate versions of President Eisenhower's tax reform program.

Only a few hours earlier Eisenhower had opened his news conference by volunteering a plea for "prompt action" on the tax bill, which he has called the cornerstone of his entire domestic program.

Some sources said the pace yesterday indicates the conference committee may complete action this week on all but one issue in the bill, running almost 1,000 pages.

But that one issue—how much to cut income taxes on dividends received by stockholders—seemed likely to be deadlocked for some time.

In its decisions yesterday—subject to possible reversal later—the conference committee approved four tax cuts totaling about 471 million dollars the first year, and a fifth on which tax savings figures were not available.

That compares with 485 million in reductions in the House bill and 464 million in reductions in the Senate bill on these same points.

Retirement income—Both houses had agreed on a plan to exempt from taxes the first $1,200 of retirement income for retired persons over 65, a saving of up to $240 per person a year. The Senate added a provision that public employees—schoolteachers, policemen and other government workers—could get the special tax cut even if they retired before 65. The committee approved the Senate version, with a tax reduction of 141 million dollars compared with 125 million in the House bill.

Single heads of households—The House approved a plan to give single heads of households the full saving married couples now get by splitting their income for tax purposes. The plan would have saved about 800 million dollars a year for about 800,000 taxpayers. The Senate knocked out the provision entirely on grounds that wealthy persons would get most of the benefits. The conference committee restored a tax cut of only about seven million dollars—providing that for two years after a husband or wife died, but not beyond that, the widow or widower could continue to split income for tax purposes. Depreciation—The House approved a far-reaching plan for more rapid tax deductions for depreciation of new plants and equipment, for a saving of 300 million dollars the first year and much more over the next few years. The Senate made the plan even broader and more liberal, for a saving of 323 million the first year. The conference committee approved the Senate version.

Installment credit—The House provided an income tax deduction of up to 6 per cent of installment purchases, to cover actual interest or carrying charges. The deduction is allowed now only if the interest or carrying charge is specified separately in the bill for the purchase. The Senate eliminated the House provision. The conference committee restored it, for an annual saving of about 10 million.

Sick benefits—The committee agreed on a compromise plan for taxation of wages paid to employees under sickness or accident benefit plans. The Senate had adopted a sweeping provision under which virtually all such wages up to $100 a week would be tax-exempt. The House plan included many restrictions which would have denied the exemption to millions of workers. Under the compromise, wages up to $100 would be exempt after seven days of absence due to sickness or accidental injury. They would be exempt for the first seven days only if (A) sickness put the worker in a hospital for at least one day of the seven-day waiting period, or (B) the absence was caused by accidental injury.

Fraud Suspect Is Badly Hurt In Accident

WAYNESBORO, MISS. (AP) — Alabama Atty. Gen. St. Garrett, under indictment on vote fraud charges, was critically injured in a hit-and-run accident near here last night.

His two children, Silas IV, 8, and Pamela, 4, were less critically hurt.

The three were the only occupants of the Garrett automobile which crashed into thick woods 400 feet off U. S. 84 west after apparently being sideswiped by a truck near the Waynesboro city limits.

The physician who treated Garrett listed his injuries as a compound fracture of the left elbow and a possible broken neck. The Alabama attorney general's left ear was torn off.

The doctor gave him "an even chance" to survive.

Garrett had returned to Alabama Monday after treatment in a Galveston, Tex., hospital. He was released in $1,000 bond at Birmingham on the vote fraud charges, and announced he was taking his family to Mississippi for a vacation.

Mrs. Garrett, who had left her family in Columbus, Miss., and returned to her Montgomery, Ala., home, set out immediately for the hospital here.

Mississippi State Patrolman R. A. McNair said the 41-year-old Garrett lay helpless near the wrecked automobile for about 30 minutes after the crash before the accident was discovered.

The patrolman said Garrett's car was apparently sideswiped by a truck.

Lunacy proceedings were also filed against Garrett after he was rendered to the sheriff's office at Birmingham Monday on the vote fraud charge.

Illinois State Police identified the injured as Louis Frazier, 48, of Parma, Mo., and his son, William, 16.

Speeds to Get Money, Loses It in Fine

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"I was chasing a man who owed me $15," said Nolan Holloway, pleading guilty in Traffic Court to a speeding charge.

"That's a foolish way to get your money," Judge Madge Taggart replied. "You're going to lose it now."

He did—plus $10. The fine was $25.

Suspect Is Discovered To Be Off-Duty Cop

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Two police cars moved into the 800 block of East Broad Street here last night to investigate a "large white man wearing a T-shirt and a straw hat" and reported to have a pistol in his pocket.

It turned out to be another policeman—off duty but required to carry his weapon at all times.

State Agriculture Head Urges Emergency Meat Purchase Plan

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A program of emergency meat purchases should be resumed by the federal government to prevent a very serious situation from developing among drought-stricken livestock men, L. C. Carpenter, Missouri's agricultural commissioner, said yesterday.

Carpenter said, after a flying inspection trip to Kansas City, St. Joseph, and Springfield, that he would recommend that Gov. Phil M. Donnelly report the situation to the Governors' Conference and ask other governors to join in pressing for resumption of the meat purchase program.

He said the action is necessary at once to prevent a very serious situation from developing as drought-hit cows and low grade beef stock move to markets.

"We're bordering on a very serious condition," said Carpenter. "A few more days of these 100 and 110 degree temperatures and there won't be any crops at all left."

Says Men Are Applying For Household Jobs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Lulu B. Bryden, director of the Volunteers of America's free employment bureau, observed yesterday that men are applying for household jobs hereabouts.

"Men are much more willing than women to hire out for housecleaning, floor waxing and odd jobs about the house," said Mrs. Bryden.

Collects Honey When Sun Drops Bee Hive

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—The hottest day of the year had a happy result for Thomas J. Flaherty yesterday.

A wild bee hive hanging in a tree in his yard tumbled down when the 95-degree temperature melted the wax. Flaherty collected the honey for table use.

SOIL SAMPLING—The series of pictures above illustrate four methods of taking soil samples for testing. Composite samples should be taken to represent the surface seven inches of each different kind of soil in the field. Numbered from one to four are the following—soil auger, sampling tube, brace and bit and spade. If the individual samples are taken with an auger, sampling tube or brace and bit, the whole amount of soil taken can be put into the composite but if taken with a spade, use only a uniform one-inch vertical strip from each slice.

Soil Testing Discussions July 19-23

The correct interpretation of soil tests will be discussed at a series of farm meetings July 19-23. A colored motion picture will also be used which shows how crops utilize plant food provided in fertilizer. It's title is "Making the Most of a Miracle."

However, the best interpretations are of little value if a soil sample is not taken properly and is not representative of the field.

The meeting schedule is below:

It was presented with the Dufy exhibition because both men worked as textile designers and influenced one another.

Bodies Are Recovered After River Accident

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (AP)—The bodies of a 27-year-old Marion County man and his young son, still clasped in his father's arms, were pulled from the Monongahela River yesterday.

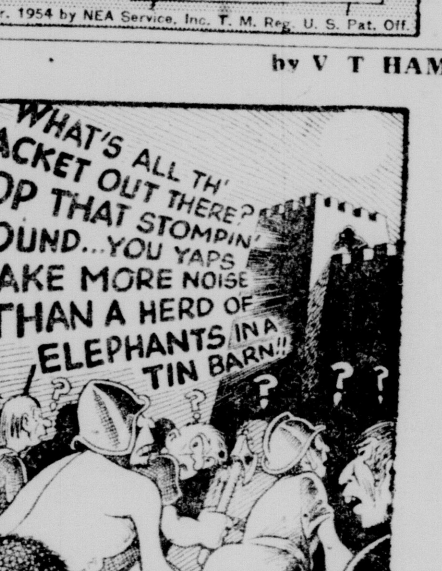

Chief Deputy Sheriff Lohr Yeager said the victims, William Heron of Catwawa and his 6-year-old son Wilber, had been missing since Sunday, soon after they went out in a homemade boat.

The boat, with side paddle wheels that Heron had constructed himself, was found Sunday night.

Her high-colored tweed suits have semifitted short jackets, gently curved to flatter but not conceal the natural lines of the figure, teamed with shirts having a slight flare. Also in the group are handkerchiefs and reversible sweaters in which pastel nubs enliven black.

Deserting the straight and narrow silhouette, Triger shows almost all skirts with some fullness, and even adds flare to coats.

Her bloused-jacket suits are done with finesse, employing a pleat on each side of the back to give freedom without bulk.

The "easy" waistline is present in all models, relieving women of the necessity of wearing a cinch.

Also new is the use of little fur sleeves on dresses worn with sleeveless jacket.

Record Heat Is Blamed As Cause of 29 Deaths Throughout Missouri Wednesday

Peak of Heat At Ft. Scott, Kan., at 120

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Violent storms in the East and an expanding cool front in the mid-west partially cracked the season's worst heat wave today as the death toll from more than a week of scorching temperatures neared the 100 mark.

The heat-relieving storms left a multimillion-dollar trail of wind and lightning damage across New England, eastern New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio and southern Michigan.

Winds of near-hurricane strength uprooted trees, peeled off roofs, snapped power and telephone lines and blocked highways.

The mercury hit a sizzling 120 degrees at Ft. Scott, Kan., before the cooler air began moving into the state. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher were common from Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas eastward to the Atlantic.

Thousands of baby chicks died from the heat in Arkansas. The Arkansas Poultry Federation said the state's poultry industry may suffer its worst baby-chick shortage in history.

Volunteers responded to an appeal to help save the lives of feeble-minded patients at the state training school in Winfield, Kan. Some Mongolian-type patients are superstitious to the heat because of deficiency in a gland that acts as a sort of thermostat in the body. They had to be packed in ice or otherwise cooled in the hospital. Patients have died in Kansas mental institutions this week.

Even tropical plants at the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis withered.

An automatic sprinkler system went into action in a suburban St. Louis car factory when the temperature reached 165 degrees in the firm's attic. Workers were drenched and the office was flooded.

Missouri had 29 fatalities; Oklahoma, 18; Kansas, 18; Illinois, 8; Kentucky, 5; Colorado, 4; and Iowa, Louisiana, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Connecticut, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Ohio, 1 each.

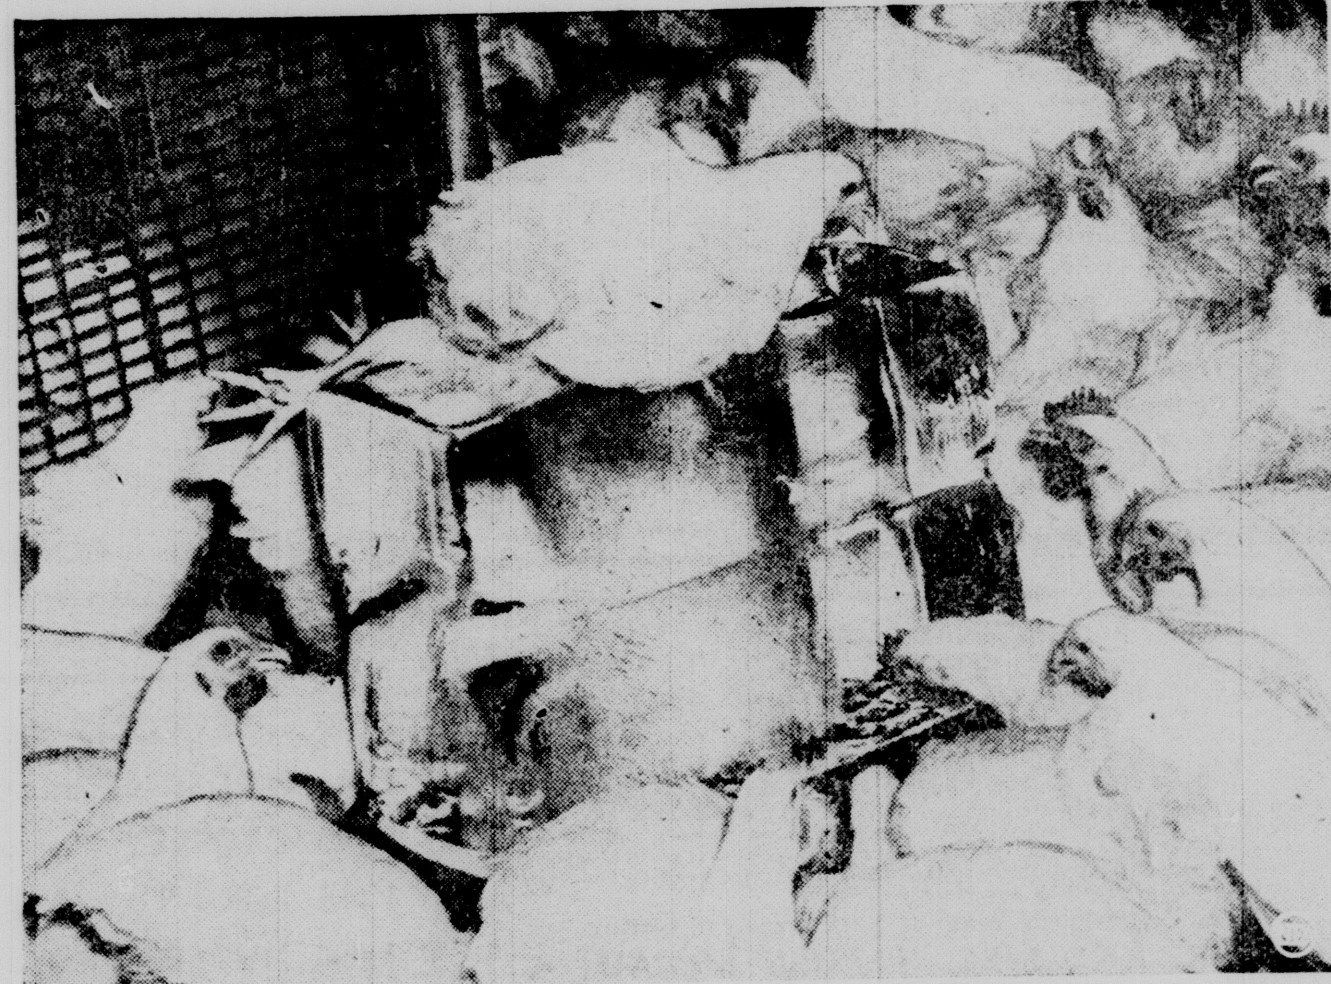

These all-time high temperatures were recorded: St. Louis, 112; Springfield, Ill., 114; Columbia, Mo., 113; Springfield, Mo., 113; Tulsa, Okla., 112; Sedalia, Mo., 115. Other high readings included Philadelphia, 101; Washington, D.C., 100; Huntington, W.Va., 105; Richmond, Va., 103; Baltimore, 101; Newark, N.J., 101; Terre Haute, Ind., 107; Columbus, Ohio, 104; Arkansas City, Kan., 118; Mexico, Mo., 116; and Kansas City, 110.

Upstate areas of New York suffered severe storm damage. At Pen Yan, in the Finger Lakes region, the mayor declared a state of emergency and estimated damage at two million dollars.

The heat also touched off severe storms in the South and West.

A heavy rainstorm with winds up to 62 miles an hour hit Denver. One of the worst electrical storms in years caused thousands of dollars of damage in Atlanta. Half the city was without power service at one time.

Cool Canadian air spread across most of the Northern Plains and Midwest, easing the heat wave in those sections.

BROILERS FIND RELIEF FROM BROILING SUN—As the worst heat wave in 18 years hit Missouri and Kansas, broiler chicken farm owner Leonard Cox of Lebanon, Mo., had 9000 broilers ready to go to market but temperatures that soared to 112 degrees cost him 70 of the chickens. Acting fast, Cox bought hundreds of pounds of ice and put fans behind them, blowing the cool air onto the birds. The broilers, as shown above, cuddled to the ice at once. (NEA Telephoto)

Poultry Deaths Due To High Temperature Menaces Growers

With reports of poultry losses resulting from the current heat wave pouring in from all over Missouri poultrymen in the Sedalia area are having their troubles also.

The largest losses in this area occurred Monday before poultrymen had a chance to take precautions against the heat. The losses continued on Tuesday and Wednesday also, however. Hens appear to be suffering the most from the heat, which reached an all time high of 115 on Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna Bagby, of the Bagby Poultry Farm and Hatchery reported the loss of around 500 capons and hens. The main brunt of the loss occurred Monday. Mrs. Bagby reported that many of her customers suffered losses also.

Ira W. Barnes of Swift's Hatchery reported the loss of 1,000 baby chicks on Monday due to the intense heat.

S. J. Timbrious of the Sedalia Chick Hatchery reported that out of two shipments of baby chicks to him 250 out of 400 had died en route Monday.

Ivan Berry reported the death of 300 small turkeys on Monday. Mr. Berry did not place all the blame on the hot weather but indicated that the type of housing used was also an element in the loss.

Among the growers in the farm area R. L. Wadleigh, RFD 1, Sedalia, reported the highest loss. He lost a total of 155 hens and pullets, 148 of these died on Monday.

J. E. Pittman, RFD 3, Sedalia, lost 52 or 53 chickens Monday due to the heat. The largest part of these were hens. Charles Romig, RFD 3, Sedalia, suffered the loss of 78 hens and Evert Koele, RFD 3, Sedalia, lost 42 hens. John L. Knuts, RFD 5, reported the death of 30 hens. Most of these also died on Monday.

There were also many reports of lesser poultry losses throughout the area. The intense heat has become a pressing problem to poultry growers with the present heat wave. Ivan Berry pointed out the need for adequate housing facilities for all poultry if these heat losses are to be brought under control during the present high temperature range. Merle Vaughan, Pettis County Extension Agent, said that he had received no reports of livestock losses other than poultry due to the heat.

However, the danger of such losses as well as considerable loss of weight to all farm animals remains high as the heat wave sears central Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Broom, five miles north of Knob Noster, have 4,000 turkeys and Monday afternoon between 3 and 6 o'clock, they lost 360 from the heat. They averaged 20 pounds each. Yesterday they bought 1,500 more.

Mayor Tucker Wants New Effort Made To Get Air Academy

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Mayor Raymond W. Tucker wants a new effort made to bring the Air Force Academy to nearby Chautauqua, Ill., despite selection of a site at Colorado Springs, Colo., for the establishment.

Tucker sent telegrams yesterday to Missouri and Illinois senators and representatives urging that an effort be made to get reconsideration of the Illinois site by Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott.

He said he understood about 50 miles of water lines would have to be laid in Colorado and that it appeared to be a poor selection.

Other criticism of the selected site was a report that the academy at Colorado Springs might have to use an air field 15 miles away for some time.

Godfrey Says He Fired Member of His Staff For Drunkenness

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's Arthur Godfrey says he has fired a member of his staff for drunkenness on the job because "that's the one thing I'll not tolerate on this program."

Godfrey made the announcement on his show yesterday but did not disclose who it was. According to rumors at CBS, it was a writer rather than a performer.

Said Godfrey on his program: "I fired a man yesterday but I told the last time—which was the seventh time—that I wouldn't take it again. Seven times I took it and I said, 'Once more and that's the end.'"

Godfrey denied reports that he may break up his TV team because of off-stage romances.

"There is no girl on this show whose job is in jeopardy," he said. "I don't give a hoot whom they're in love with, whom they marry, whom they divorce, whom they have babies with."

"I just hope that if they do it's with their husbands and everything is fine."

Head-On Crash Kills All Four Occupants

GREENVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A fiery head-on crash on U. S. 40 yesterday killed the four occupants of the two cars.

Bond County Coroner H. D. Donnell identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bloch of New York City, Mrs. Gus Fritz of St. Louis and Marion Hartzler of Indianapolis. Hartzler was driving Mrs. Fritz home after a visit. The Blochs were headed east.

Donnell said he has found no witnesses to the crash which occurred on a straight stretch of the two-lane highway, about eight miles west of here.

Firemen from Greenville and Pochontas, Ill., put out the flames.

Joel Watnick was killed on July 6 and Miss Baggett was arrested three days later.

The 31-year-old actress was named yesterday in a $50,700 civil damage suit brought by the mother of the victim.

Believe US Should Start Buying Cows

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., (AP)—Livestock marketing officials at both Kansas City and St. Joseph said today the government should start buying cows immediately to stabilize the cattle market.

L. C. Carpenter, state commissioner of agriculture, got the reports in a flying inspection trip of western Missouri terminals. He started at Kansas City this morning, then flew to St. Joseph and headed for Springfield this afternoon.

Carpenter said he found general agreement among livestock men that the government should start a support buying program, such as it put into effect last year, without waiting any longer for drought conditions to increase forced liquidation of cows and calves.

At Kansas City, M. J. Flynn, president of the Kansas City Livestock Exchange, told Carpenter that about 25 per cent of all the cattle received Monday and Tuesday were cows. This morning farm trucks loaded with mixed bunches of forced sale cattle were lined up for several blocks in front of the stockyards.

Flynn said very few cows sold for over ten cents a pound the first two days this week with the bulk going for six and seven cents.

He said individual farmers reported conditions in the Kansas City marketing area more critical now than when the emergency buying program went into effect last year.

At St. Joseph, John Bennett, president of the St. Joseph Stockyards Company, said the percentage of cows being marketed there was not yet excessive. He said there had been no glut on the St. Joseph market and no runs of any alarming proportions.

"If there is to be any government support program," he said, "now is the time to start it."

Bennett explained that northwest Missouri is in a little better shape than the rest of the state because it got more than an inch of rain last week.

At St. Joseph this morning, cows made up about 30 per cent of the 3,200 cattle received.

Carpenter said that when his tour is completed, he will report his findings to Governor Phil M. Donnelly, who is currently attending the national governors' conference in New York state.

Hottest day we've had this year the temperature barely got up to 73. Come on out and cool off."

Insect Situation

By Stirling Kyd
Extension Entomologist

Grasshoppers — Over most of the state, the grasshopper situation is becoming more serious every day. For the next several weeks you can expect the situation to get progressively worse if dry weather continues.

At the present time, most of the two-striped hoppers in the southern parts of the state are adults. Egg laying will begin soon and this species of hoppers will be gone from south Missouri within the next month. In the northern half of the state, some two-striped adults and the rest are fairly close, but they will continue to cause trouble for several weeks. There will be no second generation this year.

Over most of the state, we are already into the second generation on the small, red-legged hopper. The bulk of the very small hoppers now seen are of this species, or a closely related one. These are the individuals that will be with us up until frost.

The large, yellow, differential grasshoppers are nearing the adult stage in south Missouri, but only a few adults are being found north of the Missouri river. There is still a lot of feeding to be done by this species over the entire state.

From here on out, there is no easy, cheap way of getting hopper control. There are two choices a person can make—(three counting letting the hoppers take the crop). To protect any given crop, a person can either spray that crop, or at least the fence rows and first few rows of the crop, about every 5 to 7 days during the rest of the summer, or he can spray out now all those areas on the farm where hoppers are found. In most instances, the latter seems to be the sensible approach. However, where a crop is being infected with hoppers from a neighbors pasture, you can largely protect the crop by spraying the fence row and edge of the field every few days. Keep in mind too, that the more hoppers killed now, the less there will be to lay eggs for next year.

There is no way of telling what the situation may be next year, but right now it doesn't look good. We have had some questions about using dusts instead of spray for hopper control. Dusts are not being recommended since tests shown conclusively that sprays will give a higher percentage of kill.

Many farmers have asked about the possibility of secondary poisoning to poultry from eating grasshoppers killed by an insecticide. We think there is no possibility of such poisoning, but there is the possibility of trouble from poultry eating too many hoppers. A large portion of the hopper is completely undigestible, and a trouble that might result would be from mechanical impaction.

Incidentally, this hopper situation is a good instance of the need of most farmers owning a spray rig. Pastures and meadows can be sprayed with ground equipment, and often times, a farmer can do it himself and pay for his spray with what it would have cost him to have the job done on a custom basis.

All the recommended insecticides are giving good control. In those instances where failures are reported, almost invariably it is a case of more hoppers moving into the fields from unsprayed areas. Baiting also works fairly well, but in general, kills from baits are lower than from sprays.

CORN EARWORMS—Earworms are still working in the whorl of corn that has not yet tasseled, but the damage in most instances seems negligible. The next brood of these worms will, of course, raise out on the ears.

CORN SAP BEETLES—As corn nears the roasting ear stage, you can expect to have some ears that are infested with either small, whitish grubs working in the grains or infested with small black beetles, working in the same manner. In some instances, both the grubs and beetles will be found on the same ear.

These are the young and adults of the corn sap beetle. They enter corn primarily after the ear has been opened up by corn earworms, although in some instances they will be found in ears where earworms have not caused any damage.

There is no control for the corn sap beetle. Best prevention is to treat for corn earworms. (Usually recommended only in gardens).

Peach Season Is Here
Good quality peaches and a large supply are in prospect for this year.

The marketing season for fresh peaches is from May through October but the largest volume will be marketed during July and August.

Peaches are classified as Clingstone and Freestone. Either of these may be white-fleshed or yellow-fleshed.

Both white-fleshed and yellow-fleshed peaches provide some Vitamin C. Although the amount is much less than from citrus fruits, the yellow-fleshed peaches also supply some Vitamin A. Fresh peaches are rather low in energy value, making them of special interest to those who count calories.

If peaches which are to stand after they are peeled are dipped in a weak brine or citrus fruit juice they will not discolor. Ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) is used to keep color and fresh flavor of canned and frozen peaches.

A Pork Treat, Indoors or Outdoors

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you are the prepare-before-hand type of outdoor cook, we think you will be enthusiastic about our latest discovery — Barbecued Porkies.

In the quiet and convenience of your own kitchen you simmer a thrifty boneless pork shoulder butt until tender, and make up a quick and spicy tomato barbecue sauce. Then you pack your picnic basket with ham, sauce, sliced cooked potatoes and fat for frying, rolls, skillet, coffee and coffee pot, long-handled fork and spoon, toasting rack, and the necessary utensils. You also take along something for outdoor nibbling: celery and radishes with cheese, for instance. For dessert you supply watermelon or some other refreshing fruit.

When the coals are glowing, ham and sauce are put together in one skillet and heated, potatoes fried golden-brown in the other skillet, rolls toasted, coffee made. It's a neat and orderly cookout — but a mighty good eat. Chances are that if you like these Barbecued Porkies as much as we do, you will prepare them for indoor suppers, too.

Barbecued Porkies.
Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup finely diced onion, 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup chili sauce, 1 cup tomato juice, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 6 tablespoons cider or other salad vinegar, 2 to 2 1/2 pounds boneless smoked pork shoulder butt (cooked), 10 sandwich buns.

Method: Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and cook over low heat until it begins to get tender. Add sugar, salt, chili sauce, tomato juice, Worcestershire and vinegar; simmer, stirring occasionally, until sauce has thickened somewhat — about 1/2 hour. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. At serving time, quickly heat ham (cut in about 1/4-inch thick slices) in sauce. Serve ham and sauce over split sandwich buns. Makes 10 servings.

Note: To cook the pork butt, cover it with boiling water in a kettle; add a slightly crushed garlic clove, 6 whole cloves, 6 peppercorns, a bay leaf; cover and simmer until tender — 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

"The Complete Book of Barbecue and Rotisserie Cooking" by Jim Beard (recently published by Bobbs-Merrill in hard cover, by Maco in soft cover), is a book we can recommend to anyone interested in the direct-heat method of preparing food. Whether you do your barbecue cooking outdoors over coals, or indoors on an electric spit, you will find here hundreds of suggestions for management and preparation by a man who knows a powerful lot about good food. And there's a chapter on "Cooking with Smoke," too. The discerning comment all through the book makes it extremely readable. Among the recipes, you will find particularly delicious. Here, for example, is one:

Sauteed Potatoes
Sauteed potatoes are easily prepared for outdoor eating. Slice peeled raw potatoes fairly thin and soak them in cold water for an hour or so. If you are cooking steak or roast beef, cut away a little of the beef fat or get a little extra from the butcher. Cut the fat very fine, put it in a skillet (a heavy iron or cast-aluminum skillet is best) and let it melt. You will need about 1 tablespoon of suet per potato. When it is melted and the bits of suet have turned crisp, add the potato slices, dried on paper towels, and let them saute gently. Turn them often with a large spatula. They should be nicely browned, crisp and thoroughly cooked through. Don't break them as you turn them. Add salt and plenty of freshly ground black pepper. Potatoes cooked this way with bits of crisp suet are unforgettably good and just the thing with hearty outdoor roasts or steaks.

Planned Picnics Yield More Fun Per Hot Dog

The best picnics are those that get some advance planning. Here, father helps by taking over cooking task while mother sets out plates and shoes flies. Metal grill eliminates danger of grass fires, makes picnic cooking both neat and easy.

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — Nobody likes picnicking as much as Americans, unless it's ants.

But that doesn't mean that all Americans have fun on picnics. Some do and some don't and generally, it's those who do some advance planning who get the most out of hot dogs, soda pop and ice cream bars.

Fortunately, modern shortcuts and conveniences make such planning feasible without going to the elaborate and exhausting preparations that used to plague people in the golden era around 1900.

Since you won't want to spoil the spontaneity that's supposed to flavor every picnic, it's best not to get involved in complicated lists. Just keep in mind that kids delight in picnics and that, if you're taking them along it's a good idea to bring games or toys to keep them happy.

As for feeding men, plan on more than two civilized human beings would possibly care to eat.

LITTLE LIZ

It's a problem whether to throw left-overs away immediately or put them in the refrigerator and throw them away a week later.

then multiply again by two for each man in the caravan. If you're going to build a fire, you can then have hot dogs, ground beef patties, potatoes, corn and lots of hot coffee. You can pack these foods into a metal container and keep them hot for hours.

In addition to food and the kids, take along a first aid kit. It's practically certain to come in handy. The kit should contain bandages and disinfectant, sunburn lotion, something for burns, insect spray and a soothing lotion for tired eyes.

Don't try to pack a week's exercise into one day. It's fun to be outdoors but swimming, baseball and hiking are a powerful lot to compress into a few hours. And watch the sun; you won't get a gorgeous tan from one day under blue skies. You'll get a bad burn or heat prostration.

Remember that fire you built a couple of paragraphs back? Well, it's time to put it out just before you leave.

Never drink from strange springs or wells, no matter how fresh and sparkling clear the water may look. And don't let the small fry go swimming immediately after eating. As a matter of fact, don't go yourself. You'll either sink like a rock or wind up in a hospital. And either way, the day will be more or less ruined of its bloom.

Whatever you do, don't go around sitting on ant hills. Ants resent people. They also enjoy picnics and expect an ant's share of the food. Give it to them and they'll leave you with the scraps and some peace.

Give the Kids a Treat With Jumbo Pizza Sandwiches

JUMBO PIZZA SANDWICHES, served indoors or out, are taste treat for teen-agers.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Our young nieces and nephews are rabid pizza enthusiasts. In-doors or out, give them pizza and all is well. For them, and for others who want pizza recipes, here goes—

Jumbo Pizza Sandwich
(Yield: 24 servings)

One (1-pound) loaf French or Vienna bread, 1/4 cup sliced or chopped ripe olives, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon crushed ore-gano, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 table-spoon finely chopped chives or green onions, 1 cup (1/2 pound) ground beef, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste, 1 (8-ounce) package ready-sliced process cheese.

Cut French bread in half, length-wise. Combine olives, pepper, ore-gano, salt, chives, beef, Parmesan cheese and tomato paste. Divide meat mixture equally and spread over cut sides of bread. Place on a cookie sheet, spread side up, and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Remove from oven.

Cut cheese slices in half, diagonally. Cover meat mixture with 8 overlapping triangular slices of cheese. Return to oven for 5 min-utes. Slice each sandwich into 12 sections and serve hot.

Pizza

Package Hot Roll Mix, 1 or 2 pounds sausage meat or links, 1/2 pound Italian or sharp cheese, shredded, 1/2 cup minced onion, 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 6-ounce can tomato paste, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, 1/8 teaspoon garlic salt, grated parmesan or sharp cheese, parsley, finely cut, cooked mushrooms, sliced.

Prepare dough as directed on hot roll mix package. Let rise until light, 30 to 60 minutes. Pan-fry sausage until pink color dis-appears; drain. If link sausage is used, brown lightly; slice. Pan-fry onion lightly in 1 tablespoon sausage drippings.

Add tomato sauce, tomato paste, and seasonings. Divide dough into four parts. Flatten each piece and pat into bottoms of four 9 or 10-inch pie pans. Brush with olive oil or sausage drippings.

Arrange half of cheese on dough. Cover with tomato mixture. Top

Two Will Face Court Martial For Cruelty

PT. DIX, N.J. (P)—Court-martial proceedings have been ordered against an Army lieutenant and a sergeant charged with having their company stand at attention for an hour in 90-degree heat.

An investigation into the June 21 incident led to the court-martial order yesterday by Col. Earl R. Ringer, commanding officer of the 372nd Infantry Regiment.

Ringer ordered a July 22 trial for Lt. Robert S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., and Sgt. I.C.

with remaining cheese and sau-sage. Sprinkle with grated parme-san or sharp cheese, parsley and mushroom slices. Bake imme-diately in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot.

If this must wait for guests, in advance prepare dough in pan, brown sausage and have tomato mixture ready to combine.

Richard J. Witbeck of Wellington, Ohio, on charges of taking mass disciplinary action against Com-pany L.

Both men—Morgan was company commander and Witbeck his ad-ministrative first sergeant—have been relieved of their duties.

Several soldiers reportedly fainted during the disciplinary ac-tion, which was imposed for a reason not explained by the Army. In his order yesterday, Ringer said Morgan would be charged with dereliction of duty under Article 92 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice "in that he negligently failed to take appropriate correc-tive action to prevent the unau-thorized treatment of personnel in his command."

As for Witbeck, he will be tried under Article 93 for alleged mal-treatment of company personnel "by keeping them in formation and attention for an excessive period of time."

Ringer's name cropped up in the recent Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington in connection with Pvt. G. David Schine, who had been an aide to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). He was Schine's com-manding officer when the former consultant to McCarthy's subcom-mittee took his basic training here.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., July 13, 1934 5 This Dessert Is Really Peachy

STUFFED FRESH PEACHES with angelfood cake and custard make a heavenly dessert.

This peach dessert is a two-way affair. If your budget is on your mind, serve the peaches with their coconut filling "as is".

Then when kitchen finances allow you to go all out, doll up the peaches with our Orange Custard Sauce and whipped cream and accompany them with angelfood cake. (You can make the cake from scratch, use a mix or buy it.) Use this de luxe version of the peach dessert when you are having company.

A peach dessert such as this one is divine after curry, and here is one of our favorite menus. You'll notice that we have listed "curry accompaniments". By that we mean small bowls of ground roasted peanuts, chopped hard-cooked egg, crumbled crisp cooked bacon, chutney or sweet pickle relish. This assortment, we have found, tastes particularly good with a curry featuring shrimp.

CURRY SUPPER WITH FRESH PEACH DESSERT

Curried Shrimp — Steamed Rice
Curry Accompaniments
Green Salad — Crisp Rolls

STUFFED PEACHES

Ingredients: 6 peeled ripe free-stone peach halves, 6 tablespoons sugar (scant), 4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup moist shredded coconut. Method: Place peach halves, cavities up, in shallow baking dish. Put a tablespoon of sugar and a slice of butter into each peach cavity. Heap coconut on top of peaches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until coconut is lightly browned and peaches are heated through. Makes 6 servings.

De Luxe Variation: Serve the hot peaches on slices of angelfood cake; top with Orange Custard Sauce and slightly sweetened whipped cream.

ORANGE CUSTARD SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 eggs or 4 yolks, ½ to 2-3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg, ½ teaspoon finely grated orange rind.

Method: Beat eggs slightly; mix with sugar and salt. Stir in about one-third of the hot milk. Add this mixture to remaining hot milk in top of double boiler. Place over hot (not boiling) water; cook and stir constantly until mixture thickens and coats a silver spoon. If whole eggs were used, strain. Stir in vanilla, nutmeg and orange rind. Chill. If desired, additional coarsely grated orange rind may be sprinkled over the top of the sauce. Makes about 2½ cups sauce.

Hal Boyle's Column—

With Air-Conditioning, City Is Best Place to Endure Heat

NEW YORK (AP)—The best place to spend the summer now is in the city.

Let a friend of mine explain why: "I live in an air-conditioned apartment and work in an air-conditioned office," he said. "I've figured out a way to get to and from work in 33 minutes a day. That means I have to spend only 2 hours and 45 minutes outdoors from Monday through Friday.

"On Friday evening I put on my pajamas and hibernate in them until Monday morning. I don't have to worry about the heat, or mosquitoes, or sunburn, or stepping on cockleburs.

"By staying home I save money, catch up on all the books I want to read. I have even had time to get acquainted with my wife—imagine that, after all these years—and she has turned out to be a pretty interesting fellow, now that we don't have all those quarrels about where to go for the summer and how to get there."

He'd be a happy guy except for one thing. He put it in one word: "Commuters."

"Some of our friends who own country places and used to insist on having us out for the weekend," he complained, "now want to come and visit us in the city. They've heard about how pleasant and restful it is to spend a weekend in the city. I wish I knew what to do about it."

So I told him what to do about it. Give 'em the same kind of time in the city as they gave you in the country.

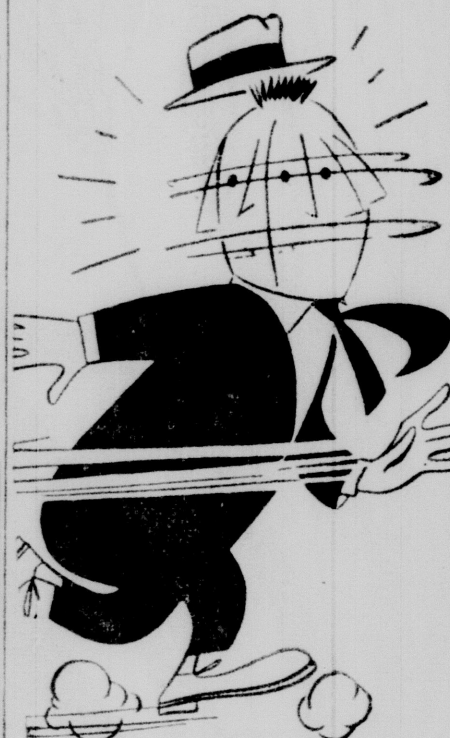

The suburban nature lovers invite a weekend guest from the city for two reasons, generally:

1. They actually are miserably lonely in their bullfrogechoing dale in the wildwood, and misery loves company.

2. They are afraid their boring country neighbors will drop over, and hope the guest from the city has a personality repulsive enough to frighten the neighbors away.

Using the same tactics, here is how the happy city dweller can repel an invasion of human locusts seeking relief from the discomforts of a summer in the country:

1. When they arrive, announce that your air-conditioner has broken down and that means a weekend in Hades, as you have the hottest apartment in town.

- Running 'round in circles?
- Is your head in a whirl?
- Are you turned all around?

Youth Attempts To Force Plane Ride to Africa

SEATTLE (AP)—"I wanted to go to Africa and live in the jungles," explained the muscular young farmer.

He had just been arrested yesterday after trying to take over a Trans-Canada airliner and firing a couple of pistol shots that sent a terrified stewardess scurrying from the plane parked at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

Eddie Marmur, 21, who makes a hobby of weight lifting, told reporters he planned to force the plane crew to fly him to Africa because he didn't like the "fussy draft."

There was no one aboard the plane, however, except the stewardess, Isabel Abraham, 24.

She turned from inspecting the forward part of the plane to find the youth seated in a front seat.

He pulled a pistol, she said, and "told me to sit down. Instead, I ran down the aisle. Don't ask me how I did it. Just as I rounded the last seat he fired the first shot."

"I think I felt the bullet whistle by. I thought he had me."

The bullet pierced a rear baggage compartment door.

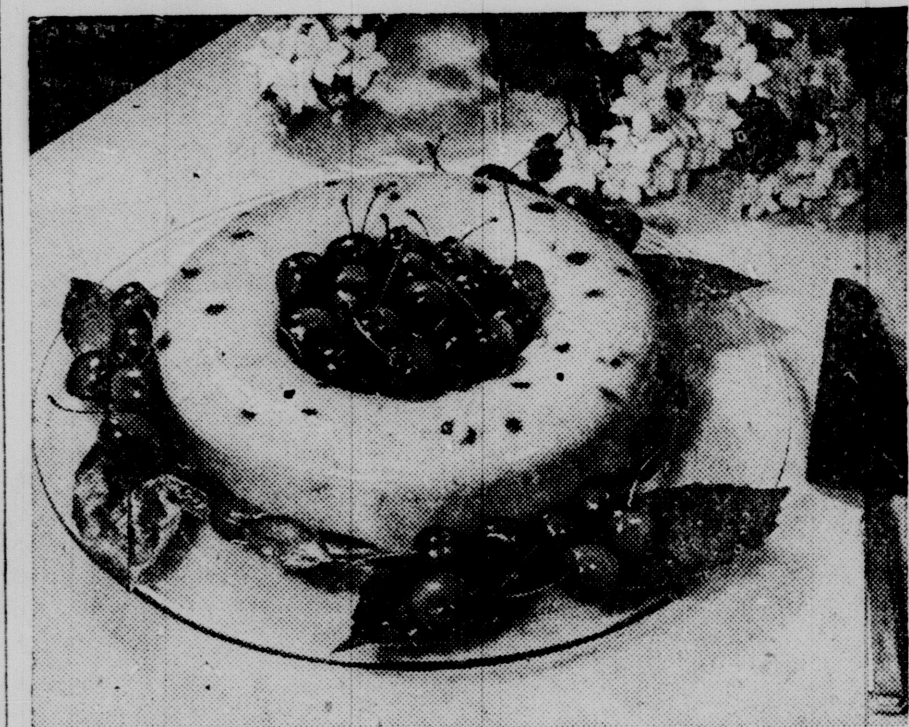

Then as the stewardess ran down the steps from the cabin, another shot was fired, tearing a hole in the plane's fuselage.

Police soon arrived and at their command Marmur tossed his weapon through the door and came out with his hands up.

"I thought she'd stop if she heard the shot," he said, "but she just went faster. I didn't shoot at her. I shot by her."

No charges have been filed.

Meier Family Has Reunion

The direct descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Meier, immigrants from Hanover, Germany, a century ago, through the late Mrs. Katharina Margaretha Meier Warnke and Henry B. Meier, met with their families in a first reunion of this branch of the relationship in Cole Camp July 4.

Attendees at the reunion came chiefly from places in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Texas. Those from Missouri were: the Edwin Meiers, Fred Heisterbergs, Edward Heisterbergs, Edward Bauers, Olaf Heisterbergs, Leonard Heisterbergs, Arnold Steffens, of Cole Camp; the Harold Brockmans of Iowa; the Marvin Brockschmidts and Ervin Binkholders, Sedalia; the Albert J. Warnkes, Reno; Warnkes, Lloyd Friedlys and Miss Daisy Warnke, Stover; the Altbobellis of Festus; Miss Mildred Meier, Miss Arlene Herick and Albert H. Meier, of St. Louis. Total attendance was 77. Four families could not attend.

The relatives at Cole Camp made up the arrangements committee, renting the spacious basement of Trinity Lutheran school and serving a chicken dinner and refreshments. The Rev. Albert J. F. Meier served as chaplain and conducted the business meeting. The Rev. Robert E. Meier was toastmaster after the noon meal.

The betrothal of Miss Arlene Herick to Albert H. Meier was announced.

Much of the afternoon was spent in reminiscing, getting acquainted and taking part in various kinds of games.

At the evening meal the 40th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heisterberg was observed. They were married June 28, 1914. The brother of the bride and best man at the wedding, who is now pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Dayton, Ia., spoke in behalf of the assembled guests.

The day's activities came to a close with a short business session. The meeting elected Reno Warnke, Stover, as president and Mrs. Ervin Binkholder, Sedalia, as secretary-treasurer.

looking snow ring. Emma States of Seattle gave it to us last week.

Sweet Cherry Snow Ring
(Serves 8)

Two cups pitted dark sweet cherries, 2 pounds unpitted dark sweet cherries, stems on, 2 packages lemon flavored gelatin, 2 cups boiling water, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup cream for whipping, 1/4 cup sugar. Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. Add the lemon juice and cold water and refrigerate until partially set. Whip the cream and add the sugar. Fold into the gelatin. Add the pitted cherries and pour into a ring mold (5 1/2-cup size).

Refrigerate for at least 4 hours. Unmold on a large platter. Place washed and drained cherries in the center and around the outside. Garnish with garden leaves.

We think these dark red sweet cherries are at their best served simply and without much fuss and they add interesting texture to every medley of fruits. Combine with grapefruit sections and juice for a fruit cup which is equally delicious served first on the menu or last with the dessert coffee.

For breakfast heap a bowl and let everyone take as many handfuls as wanted both before and after the scrambled eggs and bacon. For excursions to the beach or play field, fill a cellophane bag with them.

Stewed Sweet Cherries
Wash carefully without bruising. Remove stems. Either pit them or prick well. Cover with boiling water and simmer gently until nearly tender.

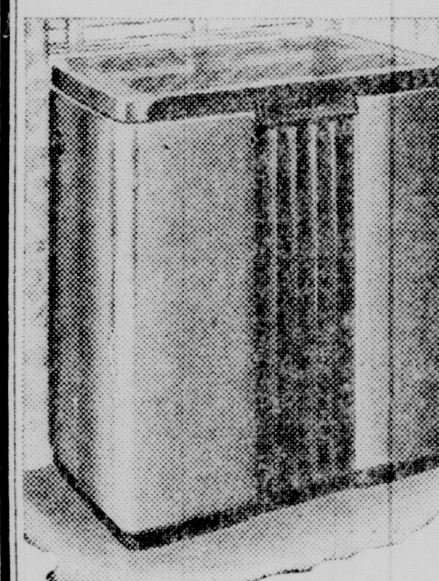

Add sugar to taste and a few drops of lemon juice. Simmer 3 or more minutes. Serve in glass dishes as a dessert or as a relish with meat.
